RABIES, SAYS DR. PEARSON

Canine Killed Near Fair Grounds Was Suffering with Terrible Disease.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM, BUT BEWARE OF DOGS

Rex, Fine Scotch Collie Formerly Owned by Mrs. John Holmes, Killed and Head Shows Rabies at Examination Made by State Experts.

Constable Delanson Fenner of South Towanda, Friday received a telegram from Dr. Leonard Pearson, State Veterinarian, stating that the head of the Scotch Collie dog sent to the State Live Stock Sanitary Board at Philadelphia for examination, was infected with rabies.

This is the head of the fine Scotch Collie dog formerly owned by Mrs. John Holmes of Towanda, which was killed near the fair grounds on Monday of this week. The dog's name was Rex, and has been owned by Miss Lillian Storrs at Standing Stone for some time. A. L. Thomas, a brother-in-law of Miss Storrs has had charge of the dog for quite a while, and the two had become almost inseparable.

Rex was one of the most intelligent canines in this section, being very sensitive, and seemingly knew his place and kept it. To scold or to speak cross, was to make Rex whine and cry like a child. Mr. Thomas had a good comfortable place for the dog to sleep outdoors, and felt as safe with the animal on guard as he would with a man. Every morning, he would open the door to find Rex ready to come in, and there was always a fond greeting between man and beast.

On Friday of last week, the dog came home with a sore leg, and Mr. Thomas learned that he had been fighting with a strange dog. Rex would hold the injured leg up and whine piteously. For a time the animal could not step on the injured foot. Mr. Thomas gave him careful attention, but the injured leg became very painful, and the dog refused to eat. Then he became strange in his actions, and finally refused to recognize Mr. Thomas. There was considerable distemper among the dogs in Asylum township, and Mr. Thomas thought that was what ailed Rex so he tried everything to make the dog comfortable and relieve his suffering but to no avail.

Last Sunday morning Rex was missing from his accustomed place, and Mr. Thomas made search, and a short time later the dog came in sight, with hair muddy and frozen, as if he had been traveling a long ways. He called to the animal, but no heed was paid to his entreaties, and while the dog came close, yet he paid no attention to his master, but kept on and was last seen headed toward Towanda.

Rex next made his appearance at East Towanda, where he fought and bit a couple of dogs. On Monday he went on the porch of a house near the fair grounds, and the woman of the house noticing his strange actions went out and tried to drive him away. He snapped and barked at her, whereupon she went for help and a number of men chased the dog to the river bank, where he was shot and killed. The head was removed and turned over to Constable Fenner, who sent it to the State Live Stock Sanitary Board at Philadelphia, and yesterday's telegram from Dr. Pearson shows that the dog was suffering with rabies when killed.

Just how many dogs Rex bit and infested before being killed is beyond telling, but two are known of, and the chances are that many more felt his teeth and were probably poisoned.

While there is no cause for alarm yet it would be well for all people to give dogs a wide berth and especially the children. The State Board of Health may order a quarantine of all dogs in the borough like has been done in Athens, Sayre, South Waverly, Canton and Troy, and in that case all dogs will have to be muzzled and tied up for 90 days.

Birthday Party.

Miss Bessie McAllister at her home on South Main street Thursday evening, entertained a number of friends, the occasion being her 17th birthday. Music and games were the pastime, and a delicious lunch was served at a seasonable hour. Late in the evening the guests departed, wishing their host many more happy birthdays.

Stalford Improving.

Levi Stalford of Wyalusing, who is in the Packer hospital after the fourth abdominal operation continues to improve, and his condition today is very favorable.

ANOTHER WIFE STEALING CASE SENT TO COURT.

Judge Fanning and Jury Will Have to Decide Important Question.

The next grand jury and Judge Fanning, aided by the lawyers, traverse jurors and others in authority about the big temple of justice will have to decide within the next couple of months whether a man has a right to steal another man's wife when the other man is not agreed.

A short time ago a man from the township was held to court by 'Squire Meredith for taking and running away with another man's wife, and now a similar case, also from the township, has bobbed up. John Wheeler is the accused in this instance and Fred Wheeler, a distant relative, is the accuser. According to Fred, some time ago he took unto himself a bride whose front name was Mable. Whether or not John, the alleged villian in this story has a fondness for Mables is not known, but he is accused of presuading and enticing this Mable to leave her happy home and lawful husband, Fred Wheeler, and fly with him, John, sir.

Fred, the husband, made a kick, but it was no use, for Mable had taken up her abode with John, and the law was Fred's only redress. He caused the arrest of his wife's charmer on the charge of enticing her away, and also with fornication, and at the hearing before 'Squire Meredith, the defendant was held to wait the action of the grand jury in the sum of $200 which was furnished.

'Squire Meredith is of the opinion that a certain class of people in this corner of Eden, as it were, are apt to consider the marriage vows too much in the same light with weather prognostications, and as the pure food laws do not apply to such affairs he has decided to put the whole matter up to the higher court in the hopes that a jury and the judge will establish a precedent by which will act as a speed reducer in such matters.

A Six-Cent Boy.

The following interesting advertisements copied from the same column of The Lycoming Chronicle, of the date of July 6, 1836, show very clearly the value of a horse as compared with an apprentice boy in those early days. says The Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin: "Thirty dollars reward—was stolen out of the pasture of the subscriber in Briar Creek township, Columbia county, on the night of June 13, a black horse. Four years old this Spring, with two white hind feet; a star and ship. Whoever takes up said horse and thief shall have the above reward, if brought back and fifteen dollars for the horse alone. John Hess Sen." 'Six cents reward—Ran away from the subscriber on Saturday night an indented apprentice to the saddling business, named Thomas B. Bailey, about 20 years of age, about 5 feet 7 inches, tolerable stout made, had on when he went away a blue coat, striped gingham pantaloons, striped vest and fur hat. The above reward, but no charges, will be paid if brought home. George Fullmer."

Originality and Publicity.

Manley M. Gillam, an acknowledged advertising expert, declares that "the keynote of success in the science and art of advertising is originality, and the habit of doing things first." Mr. Gillam is unquestionably right as to the advantages of doing things first, but unless the thing done can be patented the advantage is only temporary. To do things first is well; but to keep everlastingly at it and to exploit the doing through the most assured means of publicity is the summa summarum. When he can, the advertiser should be original by all means, but he must let the world know it. Originality may be the keynote, but the daily newspaper is the key that opens the door to knowledge. To reach all the people who spend money in Towanda—and reach them every day—make The Daily Review your key to the door of business success.

His Faith Unshaken.

Much has been said and many the discussions as to whether or not marriage is a failure, and many a man has lost faith in woman-kind, but here is a gentleman from North Towanda who is exactly the opposite. On Thursday of last week Scott White was granted a divorce from his wife on the grounds of desertion, and Monday, just four days later, he secured a license to wed Miss Elizabeth Thompson of Monroeton. Other licenses were issued to Ancil M. Olmstead and Jennie May Kitchen of Ulster, Fred Smith and Nina E. Pierce, both of LeRaysville.

Should Help Some.

The following story is going the rounds: A grade teacher, after having a medical examination in her room recently wrot the following note to the parents of a certain little boy: "Your little boy, Charles, shows signs of astigmatism. Will you please investigate and take steps to correct it," to which she received a note in reply, saying: "I don't understand exactly what Charles has been doing, but I have whalloped him tonight and you can whallop him tomorrow, and that ought to help some."

J. W. SWINGLE BUYS MEANS BLOCK

Important Real Estate Deal Consummated Monday Afternoon.

REMARKABLE GROWTH OF DRY GOODS BUSINESS

From Small Beginning Business in Ten Years Has Expanded Until Now it is One of the Largest Stores in This Section.

The largest and most important real estate deal in Towanda since the transfer of the Hale block to the Keystone Opera House Company, was consummated Monday when John W. Swingle became the owner of the Means block, one of the finest business structures in Towanda. The building was purchased from the heirs of the late Colonel John F. Means estate, through Lilley & Wilson, their attorneys. The consideration is not made public.

The Block.

The block which will hereafter be known as the Swingle block, was erected by the late Colonel John F. Means nearly 35 years ago. It is of brick, with steel and slate roof and has a frontage of 46 feet. The length is 95 feet, giving a large floor space. There is plenty of light and the accommodations for carrying on a high grade dry goods business are adequate. Mr. Swingle contemplates several changes and a number of improvements in the interior of the block.

Mr. Swingle's Success.

The purchase of the Means block by Mr. Swingle forms another chapter in the history of one of the greatest merchandising successes in Northern Pennsylvania.

Ten years ago the coming April, John W. Swingle, who had been in the employ of A. Hyman, opened a dry goods store in the South store room of the Means block. Gradually the business grew until five years later, when both store rooms and the entire four floors of the block were being utilized to handle the business. In less than ten years Mr. Swingle has built up a business which has not only required all the floor space in one of the biggest blocks in the City of Promise, but has also enabled him to purchase the block and make it the permanent home of his business.

And here it is only proper and just to add that the entire credit for the remarkable success of this store is not all due to the proprietor, for his estimable wife who is his partner, is deserving of much credit for her untiring efforts and work in helping to develop the business which today is one of the largest dry goods establishments in this section.

It is unneccessary to say that Mr. and Mrs. Swingle have adhered closely to the belief that only fair treatment, dollar for dollar, and liberal advertising, for they could not have succeeded so well had they not followed those rudiments. That they have faith in the future of Towanda is manifested by the fact that they have purchased the block which houses their fine store.

FURNITURE AND SOAP AGENT IS IN LIMBO.

W. J. Ayers in Trouble at Scranton—Worked Towandians.

William J. Ayers, an alleged fake furniture and soap club promoter, was arraigned before Magistrate Howe in Scranton on Saturday afternoon. He was charged by six women with false pretense. His game it is said was to receive money from each of the women promising valuable premiums with the soap and furniture that was purchased.

It is alleged that he failed to make good his part of the agreement. Eleven cases were brought against him on each of which he was held under $300 bail. It is said that Ayers worked the same game in Towanda about a year ago, getting away with a nice sum of money.

Case Will be Argued on Thursday.

Thursday of this week is the time for argument in the superior court on the appeal from the decision of Judge Kunkel refusing a new trial in the first capitol conspiracy case, in which Sanderson, Snyder, Shumaker and Mathues were convicted. The state will be represented by Attorney General Todd, Deputy Cunningham and James Scarlett.

Married Sixty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Fellows at their home in Canton yesterday celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. The event was made the occasion for a gathering of the children and grand children, and a very enjoyable time.

FALL OF ROCK BREAKS PATRICK COLLINS' BACK.

Serious Accident at the Murray Mine. Victim in Packer Hospital.

Patrick Collins, employed in the Murray mines at Murraytown, Sullivan county, was taken to the Packer hospital at Sayre Sunday morning, suffering with a broken back, the result of an accident in the mines.

The accident happened Saturday night. He was walking through the shaft to the mines when a large piece of rock fell from the roof, striking him on the head and knocking him backwards. He fell on his back, striking on a piece of coal on the floor of the shaft, causing the injury.

At the hospital it was found that one of the vertebrae was badly injured, and the spinal cord somewhat torn, causing paralysis of the lower portion of the body, and five of the spinal processes, the small bony projections that protrude from the spinal column, were broken off. The kidneys and other excretive organs were injured, and even if the man lives there is little hope of his ever recovering the use of his lower limbs.

Collins was soon to open a grocery store at Lopez, and the building was being fitted up for the purpose. He was working in the mines until the building should be ready. He is a brother of Mrs. Brice Dickson and Mrs. Joseph Walt of Sayre.

PITSTON HAS ANOTHER COLD BLOODED MURDER.

Boarding House Keeper Shot—Murderer Makes Good His Escape.

A few minutes after midnight Sunday morning, Tony Affrica, a Pittston boarding house keeper, was shot to death in his home by a boarder, Giatana Ferrito. The men and another boarder, Eugatia Schupula, had been seated about a table when Ferrito requested his boarding boss to go with him to procure beer at a nearby saloon but Affrica refused.

Ferrito, it is said, then left the house, but returned soon afterward and immediately opened fire, one bullet piercing the breast of the unfortunate man and causing instant death.

Ferrito made his escape and the police who arrived shortly after the shooting have since been unable to locte him.

S. & N. Y. FREIGHT SERVICE.

Will Be Started in the Very Near Future.

Says The Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin: "The Susquehanna and New York Railroad company is preparing to enter this city with its regular freight service in the near future. No definite arrangements have been made as yet, but in a month or so trains are expected to run regularly between Marsh Hill and Newberry Junction. The trains will be run over the Northern Central tracks between Marsh Hill and Newberry and then over the dike track to the Junction, where the freight will be handled and transferred to either the Pennsylvania, Reading or New York Central. The officials of the Susquehanna and New York company have in mind the running of passenger trains to this city from Towanda, but they do not expect to accomplish this for some time."

Revival at Luthers Mills.

There has been a great awakening in Luthers Mills during the last two weeks. God's forces have been at work with the result that already 53 people have been converted. Sunday afternoon the most beautiful sight that has ever been seen in that community was witnessed, when 48 young people and some with silver hair were baptized. Forty-one of this number were received into the fellowship of the church. During these meetings Rev. W. P. Miller has labored unceasingly, but he feels amply rewarded for his efforts. He presents the simple truths of the gospel so clearly and powerfully in his sermons that no one who hears them can doubt their sincerity. The faithfulness and zeal of the minister, choir and other workers for the Master have together conduced to make these meetings successful.

Circulating a Petition.

A. H. Kingsbury is circulating a petition which is to be presented to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, sent to him from West Virginia, asking that an appropriate bust, statue or other memorial be placed in the Hall of Fame at Washington to prepetuate the memory of James Rumsey, who it is claimed made the wonderful discovery of the principle of steam navigation and ran a steam boat on the Potomac river at Sheperdstown, Virginia, 20 years previous to the time of Robert Fulton's success on the Hudson. Mr. Kingsbury is getting many names on the petition.

Will Lead the Simple Life.

Lyman Heeman, in order to be out of the path of his numerous friends who have been in the habit of getting intoxicated and then calling upon him, has moved from the "red row" on South Main street to North Towanda where he proposes to pursue the simple life.

MOSCRIP IN THE LIME LIGHT

Bradford County's Senior Representative Makes the Legislature Take Notice.

STIRS UP THINGS ON COMING CELEBRATION

Tells Law Makers that Bradford County Was the First Place in Pennsylvania That a White Man Ever Set Foot.

A news dispatch from Harrisburg says: In addition to taking part in legislative affairs, Representative Geo. Moscrip, of Towanda, is much interested in Bradford county's proposed celebration of the 300th anniversary of the first visit to Pennsylvania by a white man. Of course, Bradford county was the first spot in the state upon which a white man set foot, Representative Moscrip insists that this is so, and the Bradford County Historical Society backs him up.

"Yes, sir, it was in Bradford county that the first white man set foot long before William Penn had an opportunity to think of visiting America," said Representative Moscrip, the other day. "We have the proof of it, and the fact is not disputed; if there is evidence to the contrary, let it be produced, because, in 1915, the Bradford County Historical Society will celebrate the visit here in 1615, of Stephen Brule.

"Brule was attached to General Samuel Champlain, and he was the first white man to invade the forest of Pennsylvania, and of course, Bradford county was the center of Indian affairs in those days, and Champlain, who enjoyed the friendship of the Huron Indians, sent Brule and a party of twelve Hurons upon a visit to the Carantouannais Indians to enlist 500 warriors in the campaign against the Onondagas, Went Down the Susquehanna.

"Brule visited the Carantouannais Indians in their village at a place called Spanish Hill, near Sayre of the present day. Spanish Hill, by the way is a sort of curiosity, it being disputed whether this hill is not the artificial work of a prehistoric race or whether it was the natural deposit of drift by the great Laurentian glacier.

"To return to Burle, his visit was in 1615, long before any other white man touched any part of Pennsylvania. He accomplished his mission and, later, Brule went down the Susquehanna to the sea, being the first white man to make that journey. He was murdered afterward by the Indians.

"Inasmuch as Bradford county intends to celebrate Brule's visit to the county in 1915, it is only fair that we should announce the purpose in ample time, and if any person has the proof of a white man's visit to Pennsylvania prior to Brule's, let him speak.

"Representative Moscrip is one of the active members of the Bradford county historical society, and he is the author of a recent article dealing with the Connecticut Claim. In order to encourage the study of Bradford county history, the society offers medals to public school children for the best essays upon any historical event or circumstance in the county."

"Country Combine," Maybe.

Another dispatch from Harrisburg says: "With hundreds of bills pending in the Legislature, more than three-fourths of which are being held in committee, with no chance of being reported favorable, there is every prospect of trouble in the remaining five weeks of the session.

"Many of the most important measures are those backed by independent Republicans and Democrats, and yet for political reasons, the majority of these will be deliberately smothered in committee. While it is plain that the Philadelphia-Pittsburg combine is "running things," the legislative leaders here getting their orders from United States Senator Penrose by long-distance phone, it is also evident that Speaker John F. Cox, of the House, has had his own ideas of "punishing" the independent-Democratic minority.

"Now that the independents are convinced that they will get even less show in the remaining weeks, there is talk of a revival of the "country combine."

Business Men's Smoker.

The regular monthly meeting of the Towanda Business Men's association was held in the grand jury room Monday night and was very largely attended. Following the transaction of routine business, lunch was passed after which cigars were lighted, and a social hour spent. The smoker was greatly enjoyed, and the members of the association are in favor of another in the not too distant future.

ARREST OF HARRY OAKLEY CAUSES SENSATION IN SAYRE.

Former Shop Foreman Charged With Accepting Money for Jobs.

On the charge of extorting money from an Italian, Harry Oakley, formerly a shop foreman for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company at Sayre was arrested Saturday afternoon and before the railroad company ceases investigation it is expected that there will be startling disclosures. Oakley was foreman of laborers employed in the Lehigh system shops and had about fifty men all of them foreigners under his supervision.

A few days ago three Italians entered the office of a high official of the railroad and complained that they had paid for jobs as laborers and the jobs had been promised them when times became better. But they wanted the jobs at once. This resulted in an investigation and Oakley was dropped.

Saturday morning one of the foreigners commenced suit to recover the money but it was not until Saturday afternoon that papers were served. Guiseppe DelBone had gone to Justice Carey and stated that he paid $10 for a job, then he paid $1 to hold the job and during December he was called upon to pay $5.75 more. He paid.

Oakley was admitted to bail, M. H. Sawtelle being his surety, in the sum of $200 for his appearance Wednesday evening for a hearing. The arrest has caused a sensation in Sayre.

Drove to California.

George W. Wall, of Stillwater, has the distinction of having driven with his wife and three children from Harvey's Lake to Los Angeles, Cal., and return, and so far as is known, is the only person who ever made the trip in this manner. In an interview Mr. Wall stated that eighteen years ago he was living at Harvey's Lake and decided to move to Los Angeles, Cal. and as he had a good team he concluded he would make the trip over land. He arrived at his destination all right and without an accident. After remaining in that country several years he decided to return east and the trip was made in six months and twenty-two days, and he arrived at Harvey's Lake within two days of the month upon which he started. Mr. Wall stated that both trips going and returning were made without any unusual incidents and his family kept well during the entire journey.—Bloomsburg Press.

Perfect Spellers Identified.

At the county spelling contest at Towanda recently the names of two perfect spellers could not be learned and therefore only their numbers could be published Howard Gore, teacher of McAffee school No. 7, writes to this paper, stating that Alice Francis Homan was No. 472, and Mary Marguerite McKee was No. 441 and that both received marks of 100, being perfect in the first trials. These two young ladies worked hard, won the championship of their school and made a splendid showing in the big county contest.

Tonsiline Cures Sore Throat

The throat is one of the most delicate parts of the body. It is also one of the most important, and should be given the best possible care.

The throat is the gateway to the body. The air we breathe, the food we eat, the liquids we drink, all pass through it. It is very easily affected by cold, strain, exposure, etc., and Sore Throat is therefore one of our most common ailments. Strangely enough, it is also one of the most neglected.

Sore Throat is a very serious matter, for the whole system is in danger in consequence of it.

Every Sore Throat patient is a candidate for Tonsilitis, Quinsy, Diphtheria and other serious or fatal diseases, all of which can be prevented by the timely cure of the Sore Throat by the use of TONSILINE.

If taken in time a dose or two will do it.

TONSILINE is made to cure throat diseases and nothing else. It is the one remedy for this purpose sold largely in the United States. Every user endorses it; every physician, knowing its virtues, commends it.

The one most important thing to remember about TONSILINE is the fact that it really does cure Sore Throat.

All druggists, 25c and 50c bottles.
The Tonsiline Co., Canton, Ohio.

WORK OF THE GRIM REAPER

JOHN EPPES WELLS.

Former Resident of Towanda, Who Passed Away at His Home in Tioga, Tioga County, Pa., on Saturday, Feb. 13, 1909.

JOHN EPPES WELLS.

(Contributed)

John Eppes Wells was born in Meshoppen, Pa., Feb. 15, 1878, and passed to the Home Land Saturday, Feb. 13, 1909. He was the son of Lavinia Eppes and Amore Horton Wells, and spent his early manhood in Meshoppen until after his graduation from the High School. Then he went to Ohio and finished the pharmaceutal course at the Northern University of Ohio. He practised pharmacy in Ohio, Mahanoy City, Pa., Towanda, Pa., and Tioga, locating permanently in Tioga. In June, 1903, Mr. Wells married Miss Faith McCain, who with his little four years old daughter, Helen, survives him.

Mr. Wells loved his family and home as few can. He was intensely fond of music, and the sweet tenor voice God gave him often found its way into the hearts of men, when lifted up in tender pleading and praise for the Master whom he so truly loved and served. Sensitive and refined he loved all art and beauty, and often asked us to read poems and hymns to him and would repeat stanzas from them and his beloved 23d Psalm. Many times he would fervently exclaim, "Bless the Lord, oh my soul, and all that is within me, bless His holy name." It is unnecessary to mention to those who knew him, the honor, steadfastness and truth which made him so respected as well as beloved. One can think of no better description than that given by Emerson, of this pure soul "whose acts are all regal, graceful, and pleasant as roses. We must thank God for that such things can be and are."

He was intrusted with various offices in Tioga, being President of the School Board, Secretary of the National Protective Legion, Secretary of the Board of Trade, President of the Union C. E., besides his regular church and business duties. He especially enjoyed the work of teaching his class of Sunday school boys, and so often lovingly referred to them in this last illness. Always planning and doing good, he yet craved more time in which he might better serve God and humanity. The poor and the sick will not forget him, for he never forgot them. "Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father in this: To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." This ideal of James was the one he daily lived. He was in the world, but not of it. As one said of him after his leaving us, "He never belonged here." And knowing this our hearts are reconciled to God's calling his beloved servant home. Some great souls seem born pure with small temptation for choosing evil. His was one of these; yet, we who shared his last hours, saw the ripening of the perfect image of the Home-going.

"Sorrowful but not cast down" we grieve our loss, but joy in his redemption, believing that "He putteth in the sickle because the harvest is come." Hope was strong within us, that God's need of him on earth, was greater than His need of him in Heaven; but, as we look back over this rare life, we marvel that it was left so long in the coarse atmosphere of material things. God was good to give us this sweet spirit for our enlightenment, and how ungrateful to complain that love eternal has but claimed His own, thus early in life. Rather let us praise our gracious Father for the loan, and show our gratitude by being what he believed us to be. Herein lay the strong source of his loving influence.

Utterly unsuspicious and innocent, he saw no evil in others, and shamed the wrong wherever it existed. Such a life, lived in earnestness and faith, and passing forth in triumpt, is not of the past, can never be while virtue is remembered and eternity believed in.

As one watched the last serenly trustful hours on earth, we felt the chariot of God was waiting near us, almost visible, to transfer the redeemed soul to the fuller life beyond.

His gratitude for services rendered and patient endurance of bodily affliction, and he often suffered it, influenced us more than he knew.

The death of little twin daughters, and only a short time before his own, deeply grieved him, and when speaking of the possibility of leaving us, he said they may be the Heavenly messengers God will send to welcome me Home." Heaven is nearer us, now that another star dear to our hearts has set on earth and risen in glory.

Early in life Mr. Wells joined the Presbyterian church. His pastor, Rev. Mr. Wolfe, preached from the 23d Psalm, dwelling beautifully upon the thought that life here is the valley of the shadow of death with everlasting sunlight over in the pastures of God. Before he went away Mr. Wells emphasized this thought, of the valley being but a shadow, and no reality.

Rev. Mr. Brown, of the M. E. church, followed with tender reminiscences, he being a devoted friend who was with him in his last earthly hours.

Beautiful in life, his face was serenely sweet in death, almost a smile resting upon his countenance. We buried him beside his bady girls in Tioga cemetery, the casket being laden with friendships last offering; the flowers he so loved in life.

Mr. Brown read by request a favorite poem, "Crossing the Bar." We do not think of him as gone, he has only changed his residence, and at home with his Father we shall behold him in the beauty of holiness "when the mists have cleared away."

HON. L. J. CULVER DEAD.

Passed Away Saturday Afternoon at His Home in Sheshequin.

Hon. Lafayette J. Culver died on Saturday afternoon at his home in Sheshequin, after a long period of ill health. By his death Bradford county loses one of her best known citizens. He is survived by his wife and two daughters ,Mrs. Philip C. Gori and Mrs. Charles E. Reynders; also one sister, Mrs. Lewis H. Kilmer, and two brothers, James P. Culver, a former resident of Towanda, and Orrin Culver, a long and honored resident of Tuscarora township.

Lafayette J. Culver was born in Sheshequin township on May 31, 1831, the son of Daniel B. and Josephine Horton Culver. His paternal grandfather, Timothy Culver, was among the first settlers in Bradford county, and was a soldier in the Revolutionary war. Deceased was educated in the public schools of the day, and as a young boy worked upon his father's farm. On January 24, 1857, he married Mary Patterson, and for more than half a century they shared the joys and sorrows of life together. Mr. Culver's entire life, with the exception of seven years was spent in historic Sheshequin. When a young man he resided one year at North Towanda, where he was connected with the flouring mill there, moving from there to Wysox, where he remained six years. In 1881, he was commissioned by the department of agriculture to have charge of the raising of the cane for use in the experiments in sugar making carried on by the government, and remained in Washington one year.

At the end of that service he returned to Sheshequin and purchased the old Gore homestead, which he built up into one of the finest country homes in the county. In politics he was a Republican, and he always took an active interest and part in the political affairs of the county. In 1888 he was elected a member of the legislature by a 4,000 majority.

Mr. Culver had been a lifelong Odd Fellow and was probably the oldest in point of membership of any of the members belonging to the order in Bradford county, he having joined Valley Lodge, No. 446, I. O. O. F., June, 1852. During all these years he has been an active member filling all the offices of the lodge and was also a member of the Grand Lodge.

Lafayette J. Culver was a gentleman of the old school, and his passing will be deeply mourned by a host of friends who admired and respected his manly qualities and sterling character.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S INAUGURAL.

It is significant that almost in the opening sentence of his Inagural President Taft declares that he will maintain and enforce the reforms and policies of his predecessor. But he also names many other measures which he will endeavor to place upon the statute books. Some of these—as the amendment of the Sherman anti-trust tax, a graduated inheritance tax, a statute giving the President power to enforce treaty rights of aliens when assailed by state legislation, as in the California-Jananese case, mail subsidies for ocean steamers, a general modernizing of our banking and monetary laws, a postal savings bank, and expansion of the army and navy, were urged by Mr. Roosevelt and favored by Mr. Taft while in the Roosevelt cabinet. Other measures which he advocates are new. The most important of these is Tariff revision. There is an intimation that the appointment of negroes to local offices in communities which object to them will be less frequent under Mr. Taft than they were under Mr. Roosevelt. But there is no hint at any withdrawal of the protection for the negro in the exercise of the privileges as a citizen which are guaranteed to him by the laws. For the next four years, as for the past forty years, the Republican administration will refuse to set up race or castelines among the country's citizens. Naturally the necessity for tariff revision holds an important place in Mr. Taft's inaugural. This will be the first piece of legislation which will confront him. When, under this call, the 61st. Congress meets next Monday to prepare to bring the tariff down to date, the serious work of his administration will begin. This will be a far larger task than that which Mr. McKinley dealt with at the outset of his Presidency. In adjusting the schedules in 1909 revenue as well as protection will have to be kept in mind. The second of these demands is all that the law makers in 1897 were compelled to concern themselves with. There was a Treasury deficit then also but it was only about a seventh as great as it is now. In the fiscal year, 1897, the government's income was $18,000,000 below its outgo. The shortage in 1909 will be about $130,000 000. Thus the Republican Congress will have a far more difficult task upon its hands now than it had twelve years ago. There is an especial urgent necessity, moreover, of doing this work as speedily as intelligent deliberation will permit. Mr. Taft sees clearly that there can not be any material revival in business confidence until after the removal of the uncertainty as to the precise shape which the new schedules will take. He believes that the changes in conditions in the past dozen years will warrant a reduction in most rates of duty which are altered at all. In some instances, reductions will increase the revenue. But he wants the changes, whatever they are to be, made just as soon as is practicable, so that trade will have something definite to build upon and activities can reach out toward their old time volume.

On two other points in the inaugural the injunction and the boycott, the country will have large interest. During the campaign Mr. Gompers and other enemies of the Republican party charged that Mr. Taft was the "father of the injunction", because he enforced it vigorously in several instances while on the bench. He enforced it, however, against employers as well as against workers, against capital as well as against labor. In his present enunciation of policies, he condemns the attempt to take away from the federal courts, the power of injunction. He condemns, likewise, the proposition which denies that a man's business is a property right, and which would withhold from it the protection of the injunction. But he believes that the writ is sometimes abused, and he would have a carefully drawn statute defining its scope. He defines the boycott, "an instrument of tyranny" and says "that it ought not to be made legitimate."

The reference there is to the attempt of some of the labor union leaders to amend the Sherman law in such a way that it would place no interdict upon their mode of warfare during strikes. The boycott is forbidden in express terms by the laws of many states, and other states prohibit it in general terms. On this as on most of the other questions dealt with in his inaugural, Mr. Taft has a large majority of the American people with him.

Whenever the great body of American women express a desire for the franchise, it is very probable they will get it. Until that time arrives agitation will be futile. At present it seems some distance in the future. —South Bethlehem Globe.

STATE APPROPRIATIONS AND STATE REVENUES.

Pennsylvania is a rich state and now has plenty of money, but all the same Pennsylvania had best slow up a little on approapriations.

Former speaker of the house, Frank B. McClain of Lancaster, has been giving attention to state financies, and last week made an interesting report to the House Appropriations committee of what he has discovered. He declared that statisticsc showed that from 1877 to 1907 the state revenues have multiplied but a trifle over three fold, while the appropriations to homes and hospitals with which the state has no direct concern have grown to fifty times what they were in the first named year.

In 1887 this class of appropriations amounted to $578,275; in 1897 to $1,702,561; and in 1907 investigation discloses that the state's benefactions to institutions not under its control and purely local in character amounted to the enormous sum of $6,500,000, practically fifty times as much as was appropriated in 1877. Of the annual appropriations in 1907 $4,400,000 was for mainteance and $2,100,000 was for building.

The result of the ex-speaker's investigation of appropriations prompted him to ascertain what the revenues of the state were during the different periods quoted. In 1877-78 the net state revenues were about $13,000,000. By 1887-88 they had increased to about $24,000,000. In 1907-08 they were about $44,000,000. The industrial depression of the last two years has resulted in a decrease of income to the state. Fifty-one million dollars in appropriations were approved by the governor in 1907. The auditor general estimates the amount available for the coming two years at $42,000,000, but the state treasurer is more liberal in his estimate and says $44,000,000 will be available. There are unexpended balances of appropriations made in 1907, and a surplus of perhaps at $2,000,000 may raise the amount to $46,000,000 or $47,000,000 as the outside figure that can be appropriated, which is $4,000,000 less than the appropriations of 1907. "How can we make ends meet?" the investigator asks. "We cannot have the cake and eat it too."

The question asked is a fair one, and is one that occurs to many a taxpayer as he reads in the legislative proceedings of the huge amounts appropriated and the increased sums asked for at each succeeding session of the legislature. In commenting on ex-speaker McClain's investigation and report the Philadelphia Press appropriately says: "The statement does not, however, indicate what the legislature is likely to do about it. The generous but unsystematized aid to various institutions has grown up quite naturally, and threatens to continue as long as nearly every member goes to Harrisburg with a claim for some institution in his district. No member opposes any other member's bill, as that would certainly mean the defeat of his own measure. By a genial and convenient system of log rolling everything goes through. Not only ex-speaker McClain but every other member knows that some restrictions must be applied, but nobody proposes the way to do it."

After the lesson given by the elements on Thusrday last if congress does not now straightway change the date of inauguration day something should be done to congress to make it feel the displeasure of the people. There is no doubt now that the change will be made. The country has had enough, and more than enough of March 4. May 1 is now named for the day. May 1 is all right as to weather probabilities, but May 1 would occasionally fall on Sunday, and to avoid this it is likely it will be decided to name the last Wednesday in April or the first Wednesday in May.

Representative Morris of Philadelphia, has introduced in the legislature a bill to pension school superintendents, principals and teachers on half pay after thirty-five years of service. Only those who have to their credit twenty years continuous service in a district where the application for pension is made shall be eligible.

Senator Blewitt of Lackawanna county has introduced in the legislature a bill authorizing county commissioners, where G. A. R. memorial halls are owned by posts, to pay the indebtedness on the same where it shall not amount to more than one-third of the value of the property.

The school directors of Bradford county and the Grangers don't think alike about the new school code. In session in Towanda week before last the former unanimously resolved that Bradford county's representatives in the legislature be urged to vote for and work for the bill in its entirety, without amendments. The legislative and executive committee of the state grange has declared in favor of postponing action on the bill until the next session of the legislature, two years hence.

If that $5,000,000 bill presented at Harrisburg to build a road from Philadelphia to Pittsburg goes through the rest of Pennsylvania might as well prepare to walk in the mud for the next quarter of a century.—Scranton Tribune.

We venture to say that no president having filled his full term ever retired with greater measure of popular esteem than Mr. Roosevelt. He is, without question, the most popular man on the face of the earth today, and everybody admits it.—New York Times.

Pennsylvania will elect a supreme court judge this fall. A contemporary remarks that a supreme court judgeship for twenty-one years, is all things considered, the most important office which the people have to fill.

ALL EYES ON COAL MEN

All eyes will be on the meeting at Philadelphia on Thursday of this week between the coal operators and the miners, at which the matter of a new agreement between the parties will be considered. The present agreement will terminate on March 31. It is said the miners are not as well organized this year as they have been on previous occasions when they have met the operators, and therefore are not in as good condition to make their demands felt and obtain what they want. The coal companies have an immense surplus stock of coal on hand. It is not believed there will be a strike. The results of the meeting are of supreme importance to the Pennsylvania hard coal region, and are anxiously awaited. For that matter the results of the meeting are of great importance to the state and nation. A long time agreement and no strike is what the general public is hoping for. The coal fields but a few miles below us are a great market for Bradford county products and much interest is felt here in the outcome of the conference.

LOCAL OPTION OUTLOOK.

The local option people, of whom there are many in Bradford county, say that there is no such thing as defeat for them,— that they are sure to win in the short or long run. If beaten in this legislature it is only the beginning, they say. Their Keystone Citizen which is the official organ of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, puts it in this way: "Write them (members of the legislature) letters by the thousands, sign the petitions by the hundreds of thousands, let delegations come to Harrisburg demanding the enactment of this legislation, and we will then see whether or not the legislature will take chances upon defying public sentiment to the extent of adjourning the legislature without having taken action, and thus invite a deluge in the state campaign next year that will sweep into oblivion every opposing element, political or otherwise."

The feeling that you are bound to win in the end is a mighty heart-strengthener in any kind of a fight.

JUDGES' SALARIES.

Senator Wolf of Philadelphia on Monday offered in the state senate a bill which makes a substantial increase in the salaries of all Pennsylvania judges. The yearly salary of the president judge of Bradford county is now $5 000, having been raised to that figure from $4,000 a few years ago. The new bill above referred to would make it $7.500. In counties of 90,000 and not over 500,000 population the salary shall be $8 500 instead of $6 000. The salary of judges in Philadelphia and Allegheny county is now $8,500, and an increase to $12 500 is proposed. The salary of the chief justice of the supreme court is made $15.000 instead of $10.500, and the salaries of associate judges are increased from $10 000 to $14,000. Judges of the superior court now receive $9,000 and it is proposed to make the salary of the president judge $13,500, and of the associate judges $13.000.

We observe that Dr. M. G. Brumbaugh, superintendent of the public schools of Philadelphia, advocates the use of the public school houses as places for recreation and social gatherings of the people. That at first blush seems an excellent idea, but before such a system was fairly inaugurated we believe there would be a peck of trouble. Who is to pay for the light and fuel? Who for the destruction of school property which must inevitably result from throwing open the school houses to miscellaneous gatherings? Then, again, "social gatherings" is a very elastic term, and under its wing pretty nearly every kind of organization in the land would demand admittance, from spiritualists to anarchists. If Dr. Brumbaugh himself had to pass upon the claims of the thousand and one applicants, his present job would be a sinecure compared to that.

State Treasurer Sheatz and Auditor General Young are the advance agents for prosperity, and with recepits at the State Treasury reaching the enormous total of $1,700,000 within the last five days it's no wonder the air in the southwest cornere of the imposing capitol building is surcharged with optimism. These officials have reason to feel comfortable over the State's financial outlook, with the recepits of a million and a half in excess of the same period a year ago. Money pouring into the Treasury in this steady stream indicates a healthy condition of affairs, and encourages the belief that the future is bright with promises. It means a substantial recovery of business and better times ahead.

It is beginning to dawn upon many people who have a surplus of the good things of this life that it is foolish to wait until the curtain falls upon their earthly activities before giving their philanthropy its proper exercise. Men filled with the proper inspiration toward helpful things too often postpone until after death intervenes the generous subscriptions to useful and needed public enterprises whish should have not only the cash, but their counsel and co-operation, is the thoughful suggestion of the Harrisburg Telegraph.

County Superintendent of Schools Herbert S. Putnam suggests that the Bradford County Agricultural society offfer a prize of $100 in gold to the farmer who shows the greatest improvement in the appearance of his farm, and another $100 to the farmer who gets the best result from a certain number of acres of land. Good suggestion, which we second and put before the people and Agricultural society.

DO THEY, REALLY?

Since the agitation of the suffrage question abroad the women of the United States who want to vote have taken up the subject with renewed vigor. It is proposed to send a petition to Congress, signed by a million women, asking for universal suffrage. But there are a good many more than a million women in this country, probably 20 to 25 times that number; and it is alleged that the number of women who have any ambition to possess the right to vote is very small in proportion to the number of voting age. Certainly, in the states where women can participate in elections if they wish to, comparatively few go to the polls. Notably in Colorado woman's suffrage is a failure, as we learn from excellent authority.

However, there has been no organized effort against woman suffrage until now. And this opposition is from the women themselves. The movement was started in Boston. Philadelphia has lately joined with an "association opposed to the extension of suffrage to women." It is headed by a group of prominent social leaders and they propose to match the monster suffrage petition to Congress by a protest quite as large thus placing the legislators between the—women and the deep sea.

Really, do the women of this fair land of freedom want to vote? We don't believe that the majority of them do. Perhaps if the gentler sex had the right of suffrage they would help matters but we are of the humble opinion that women in their proper sphere can do more good than they ever could by the ballot.

The man of spirit and vit, dislikes to see a woman doing a man's work. The real man gnashes his teeth and sometimes—swears—just a little when he sees a woman in a wheat field, behind a plow or even chopping wood. It doesn't seem the place for them somehow and the real man, the MAN feels that there are enough good men, enough real men to settle all important questions, aye, even as they settled the rebellion. During that memorable struggle the women played a heroic part, and while they did not help by might, yet by gentle influence they did.

Travel Bradford county over and how many women will you find who want to vote? In the states where women are given the privilege how many make use of it? We do not believe that it was intended by the Creator that the women should take it upon themselves to do what He intended that His men should do. We believe that He intended and desires that the gentler sex shall do their part, but it is not at the ballot box.

Push aside the curtain and behold the wife with her children around her and husband reading his favorite paper, magazine or book. He is studying the great issues of the day. He sees his duty and he will do it. Ask that wife if she wants to vote, and she will tell you that "Tom" "Will," "John," or whatever her husband's name may be, will attend to that. She may not be a XXth century woman but she is a real woman and she is doing her part, doing it well.

It is such wives as these who do more good, and the results are far better in communities where such homes are in the majority, than where a few women believe that it is up to them to revolutionize the world, and are shouting from the house tops "give us a chance and we will show you."

Men are queer. They can be coaxed and can be led but they will not, be driven.

Again we ask in all seriousness: Do the majority of the women really want to vote? And would the majority of them vote if they had the chance?

A Washington dispatch notes that an appropriation of $161,018,000 for pensions was agreed on last week by the committee on appropriations in the drafting of the annual pension appropriation bill. This is more than $2.000,000 less than the appropriation of last year, which was $163,053,000. It is stated that in the report to the House it will be shown that the government has expended since its beginning $3,751,108,809 in pensions. No government has ever been as generous as Uncle Sam in dealing with its soldiers. The congressional fight in the Fourteenth Pennsylvania district is over by about two months, and we are not now going to start in on a fresh review and comparison of the pension-granting records of the Republican and Democratic parties. Let it pass until that matter is again stirred up. It is well enough, however, for the veterans to take note of the liberal pension grants being made, and to remember which political party is in control in congress.

The general impression throughout the state is that the real contest for the United States senatorship made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Knox will take place two years hence. Unless Senator Penrose should throw his influence for some one else there is likelihood that George T. Oliver of Pittsburg, will win the election for the unexpired term of two years without much opposition. The legislature is admittedly strong for Penrose, as his re-election showed, and it will be inclined to follow his wish or suggestion in electing Mr. Knox's successor. This is believed to mean the election of Oliver. The election will occur on March 16, at which time the senate and house will ballot separately. On the day following the legislature will meet in joint session to canvass the vote.

TAFT IS AN OPTIMIST.

President Taft sets an excellent example to the Nation by the spirit of optimism with which he enthuses everybody who comes in immediate contact with him. He has no time for the carping critic, who believes that everything is wrong because it is not run in the way that he approves, or that every person with whom he differs is, therefore, necessarily dishonest. In a letter to Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Slicer, of New York, just made public, Mr. Taft thus expounds his doctrine of hope and good will:

"I have your letter of February 11 and am glad to express my sympathy with the attitude of the Optimist Club and the Optimist's Magazine toward the present condition. The man who does not hope for better things and does not believe that better things can be brought about is not the man likely to bring better things about. The spirit of hypercriticism and the uncompromising attitude which will not accept 'some progress is better than none,' the insistence upon the full realization of the highest ideals and the rejection of any compromises which accomplish good are all likely to retard progress. Constant criticism and constant pessimism are productive of paralysis and stagnation. No one who wishes to do anything and bring about real reform should allow himself to read from day to day editorials and other printed articles the tone of which is pessimistic and hypercritical, for nothing will so take out of him the enthusiasm necessary to successful effort as the reading of such matter.

"Very sincerely yours,

"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

The President's letter teaches a moral and a lesson that is local as well as general in its application.

PROTECT TREES ALONG ROADS.

Representative Ambler of Montgomery county has introduced a bill in the house at Harrisburg, which aims to protect trees growing along the public highways. The bill is entirely in harmony with the growing sentiment that shade trees should be protected where they exist and their having planting encouraged where they do not exist.

The chief features of Mr. Ambler's bill are that where public highways pass through or along woodlands or within the limits of the road more than fifteen feet from the central limits of the road, which measure four inches or more in diameter two feet above the ground, shall not be cut down or destroyed by any road authorities or any other person without the consent of the abutting property owners.

If the Commissioners or Supervisors deem the removal of such trees necessary to the improvement of the road and cannot get the consent of the abutting property-owners they may appeal to the court, which is empowered to take such action as shall appear reasonable and just. From the court's decision there shall be no appeal. Further, when any public road running through improved lands has been opened and trees and shrubs are growing which do not interfere with public travel they shall not be removed unless the removal is absolutely necessary for the purpose of maintaining the highway at the best and highest efficiency and then not without the consent of the abutting property-owners. In case of disagreement the matter shall be referred to a judge of the proper court, as in the case of trees growing along woodlands or uncultivated lands.

All who think over the matter will undoubtedly agree that the purpose of the Ambler bill is clearly in the public interest, to protect trees along the public highway which do not interfere with travel from destruction by ignorant or ill-advised road authorities or others. It is a perfectly proper measure, in line with the shade tree commission Act, passed at the last session.

DEFENDING THE GRANGE.

"Farmer" Creasy's defense of the State Grange, on the floor of the House of Representatives against a Harrisburg newspaper's insinuation that the Grange has gone into politics on the good roads question, was both a timely and masterful one.

The action of the Grange in opposition to the proposed state boulevard from Philadelphia to Pittsburg is in nowise a political move, but one which in its judgment, is for the interests of not only its own members—who are of all political affiliations—but for the people in general. Indeed the politics in the question comes with the side of the objectors, who are in the plan because of the selfish intrests embraced therein, and who see in the boulevard project an opportunity to spend several millions of dollars of the people's money.

The fact that some of the strongest protests are from Republican counties is of itself proof against the charge that the Grange's opposition is for political reasons.

And let it be known and remembered right here that not only the Grangers of Bradford county, but the majority of all the people are against the "Philla—Pittsburg automobile speedway." There is going to be an awful lot of noise and some tall talk all through the state if the Philadelphia and Pittsburg members of the legislature try to force that road upon the people at the expense of the public.

Three members of President Taft's cabinet are natives of Pennsylvania. What is ordinarily judged to be the highest place in the cabinet—Secretary of State—is held by a Pennsylvanian. Here's hoping the Pennsylvanians will give a good account of themselves.

The physician who treats an angelic girl is not a doctor of divinity, by any means.

SENSIBLE ROAD TALK.

Representative E. S. Jones, of Susquehanna, has given utterance to the most sensible expressions regarding the good roads movement that have been heard. His plea for dirt roads and for abolishing the "working out road tax" and substituting the payment of money, thus conducting road construction on a business basis, is right to the point in practicability. It would be just as wise to ask the citizens to "work out" their school tax by personally repairing the buildings, teaching a day now and then, or acting as janitor occassionally, as to ask them to contribute a few days, work under more or less incompetent supervision in road making. Bradford county will never have even tolerable roads until this archaic practice is abandoned.

In expressing his views Representative Jones says:

"I am in favor of all kinds of good roads. I am almost emphatically in favor of just as much macadam road as we can possibly build each year. I am in favor of a state highway from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, and then other connected roads. No one wants such roads more than I do, but I am not a supporter of such roads to the exclusion of appropriations and better ment by the state of the common dirt roads of the state on which nine-tenths of the people travel daily.

"The $3,000,000 asked for in my bill for the betterment of the dirt roads in the country districts, will directly benefit, for two years, millions of our citizens, while $10,000,000 on the macadam roads will be of benefit, directly to but a few thousand people. But I am in favor of both kinds. Our state needs better roads of both kinds, dirt and macadam.

"Automobilists should be ardent supporters of my bill to better the dirt roads, for nowadays the automobile is found on every cross road in the state My bill merely provides that the state appropriate to the townships 50 per cent. as much money as they raise in cash for road purposes. This will stimulate the townships to expend on their roads more money than now, so their share of state money may be as large as possible.

"If the state will grant this money and at the same time abolish the old time "work tax," making the road tax payable in cash, you will find the best men in every small community then ready to accept the office of supervisor, and devote their time and ability to making better roads. I know this because I live among just such people. More money and a knowledge of road building are the principal things needed, and this must come by state aid as the farmer is overburdened with taxes, paying today much more taxes on his property than any other class of people in Pennsylvania.

"'Give us better roads,' is the cry of the people from all over the state and this appeal is just as much, or more, in behalf of the dirt roads as the macadam."

How the times change! When we were young, people had colds, soaked their feet in hot water and got well. Now they have grip, take quinine and feel sick all summer. Then they had sore throat, wrapped a piece of fat pork in an old sock, tied it around the neck at night and went to work the next morning. Now they have tonsilitis, a surgical operation and two weeks in the house. Then they had the stomachache, took castor oil and recovered. Now they have appendicitis, a week in the hospital and six feet due east and west and four feet perpendicular. Then they worked. They labor now. In those days they wore underclothes, now they wear lingerie Then they went to a restaurant. Now they go to a cafe. Then they broke a leg or arm, now they fracture a limb. People went crazy then, now they have brain storms. Politicians paid good hard cash for support. Now they send government garden seed.—Exchange.

Here is a temperance lesson in a few words: Pelinan, of the University of Bonn, tells of a very notorious drunken woman who died in 1800. A scientific investigation has recently been made concerning her descendants which brought forth the following facts: The total number of her descendants have been 834. Of that number 709 only could be traced with the results as follows: 7 were convicted of murder; 76 were convicted and imprisoned for other crimes; 142 were professional beggars; 64 lived on charity; 181 of the women were prostitutes. It has been estimated that the cost of the government of the crime and pauperism of this one line of descendants has been $1,250,000.

PHILLIP McGOVERN LOOKED DOWN REVOLVER BARREL.

Former Turnkey at the Jail, Had Thrilling Experience at Herrick.

Phillip McGovern, who a number of years ago was turnkey at the county jail, had an exciting experience at his farm in Herick recently. Mr. McGovern went to the barn about dusk, and while outside saw the glint of a tin can through the cracks. Knowing he had put no can there, and being mystified he opened the door and stepped inside the barn only to look down the barrel of a revolver held in the hand of a stranger.

Mr. McGovern was taken completely by surprise and before he could speak the stranger said: "You promise not to hurt me and I will promise not to hurt you." The promises were made, and the stranger then said he desired to sleep in the barn during the night Mr. McGovern said he preferred that he come in the house where it would be more comfortable, but the stranger refused, saying the barn was good enough, adding that he had no matches, was not a smoker and there would be no danger of a fire. Mr. McGovern got him some blankets and made him comfortable, and then returned to the house, with the intention of summoning some of the neighbors during the night and in the morning making an investigation.

At daylight when he went to the barn, the stranger was not to be found. The next night the Herrickville store was robbed, and it is believed the stranger who slept in the barn was the man who pulled off the job.

State Warns Farmers.

The State Department of Agriculture warns farmers and others who buy fertilizers in its annual report on the analysis of the fertilizers sold in this State. The report says: "Many manufacturers after complying with the law requiring the printing of the guaranty insert additional items in their guaranties, often with the result of misleading or confusing the buyer. The latter would do well to give heed to those items only that are to be given as the law requires. In the year just closed 629 samples of fertilizers were analyzed and several prosecutions brought for misbranding.

Mr. King has been a faithful employe of Mr. Beardslee and his several partners for about 17 years, and by his attention to business and energy he has become a necessary member of the concern. The present thus made by Mr. Beardslee is a graceful acknowledgement of the value of his services and the high appreciation in which Mr. King is held by the firm and its patrons. The young man has a good future before him and stands high in the esteem of the community.

Candidate For Sheriff.

Bradley R. Kinney, one of Eastern Bradford's best known and most highly respected business men was attending to some business matters in Towanda on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Mr. Kinney conducts a general store at Warren Center where he also looks after his extensive farming interests. It will be remembered that his father, John D. Kinney, was appointed County Commissioner to succeed E. M. Pitcher, who died shortly after his re-election in 1900, and who is conceeded to have made one of the best officials the county ever had. The friends of his son, Bradley R., are urging him as a candidate for sherff two years from now and one of their claims, that the Eastern part of the county has not had a sheriff for over 30 years seems to have merit in it. Certain it is that this nomination would be a proper recognition of the young Republican element of the county and undoubtedly would be well received.

Back to be Tried in April.

The date of the trial of A. W .T. Back, the Binghamton alleged good road grafter, on his second indictment has now been fixed for April 13, and it will be before Judge W. S. Andrews of Syracuse, at Cooperstown.

Will Break About Even.

While there has been a saving on coal bills through the warm winter weather, yet the high cost of ice the coming Summer will probably even things up.

Scott White Divorced.

Scott O. White, a former resident of Towanda, was yesterday granted a divorce from his wife, Ella E. White on the grounds of desertion.

SAYRE AND ATHENS TO HAVE ARTIFICIAL ICE PLANTS.

No Need to Worry About a Supply of the Frozen Commodity.

Realizing that there will be a big demand for artificial ice the coming Summer, owing to the mild Winter during which but little of the naturally frozen stuff could be harvested, Sayre and Athens capitalists have jumped into the breech and will start plants for the manufacture of crystalized water.

At Sayre the company is being promoted largely by J. Henry Price, G. D. Bonfoey and T. P. Maney. It is proposed that the plant shall be installed in the building now occupied by the Sayre Brewing Company. Both companies will be under the same roof but they will be conducted strictly as independent concerns. The new company has not as yet been named but stock in it is now being sold and those who have already invested are the stockholders of the Sayre Brewery company which include Mr. Maney and also Messrs. Price, Bonfoey and other citizens of Sayre, Athens and Waverly."

At Athens incorporation papers have been filed for the new company to be known as the Crystal Ice Co., which will be erected on land near the gas works in that village. The capital stock of this company is $25,000 and the incorporators are as follows: F. A. Gillette, F. T. Page, O. L. Haverly, Wm. H. Minor, Dr. E. M. Cowell, of Athens; I. A. Williams of Sayre; Geo. R. Hill, of Towanda; John A. Morley, of Burlington. The contract has been let for the machinery and the erection of the necessary buildings and work will be started at once.

Alba E. Johnson Injured.

Says the LeRaysville Times: "On Monday of last week Alba Johnson, one of the most prominent farmers of this section, met with an accident that will keep him from the active duties of his farm for some time to come. During the afternoon he in company with a hired man went to a tree which had recently been struck by lightning and began getting it ready for fire wood. A limb, which the electric fluid had broken but not detached from the tree, was being sawed off when another limb swept back striking Mr. Johnson on the right leg, breaking it about two-thirds way from knee to body. The injured man was taken to his home where Dr. G. W. Durga was summoned and reduced the fracture."

Stood the Test.

The Rapid Transit company of Wyalusing Thursday, had an opportunity to put their Rapid 20 passenger car to a severe test. Through the blizzard and eight inches of snow, the car met all trains at Wyalusing, and made it's three regular trips to Camptown and return on time. The car had to break it's own road through the eight inches of snow, for the weather was so severe that not a horse was driven over the road traversed by the Rapid. The members of the company are elated over the fine showing made by the big auto.

Freem Won't Bite.

Brother Freem Taylor, the happy go lucky editor and publisher of the New Albany Mirror, is becoming as shrewd as most lawyers. Just read this from this week's Mirror: "Well, what next? A certain duffer in Buffalo wants to trade us a gob of rat poison for space. It is also recommended to be deadly medicine for bugs. We will turn the proposition down. Our rats are faring mighty slim now, and the bed bugs, bless 'em, they are welcome to the little meat and drink they can get out of our dry carcass."

Storm No Barrier.

Thursday's wind, snow and low temperature was no barrier for those wishing to enter the matrimonial state for no less than three couples braved the elements and procured permits to join hearts and hands. They were: Olin W. Hoaglin of Towanda, and Agnes Coolbaugh of Wysox; James Edgar Niver of Buffalo, and Kathern Bloom of Ithaca; William F. Youmans and Florence A. Greener both of Cortland, N. Y.

Will Put in New Rails.

Within the next few weeks the Lehigh Valley Railroad company will put in new rails in various sections between White Haven and Coalport, a distance of seventeen miles. This is one of the hardest sections on the Wyoming division as the grade of the road is such that there is a continual hard wear on the rails. The new rails to be put down are thirty three feet in length and weight ninety pounds to the yard. Most of the rails are of the open-hearth kind.

Freak Hen Fruit.

Says the New Albany Mirror: "Here's a freak. On Saturday, Joseph Covey of the township, gave us a description of a hen's egg laid by one of his flock. The following is what he told us, and he says he prove the statement by several reliable witnesses. The egg measured 8¾ inches in circumferance and contained three yolks. We don't believe there's a hen in the county with grit enough to attempt to beat this record."

CURIOUS EGG THIS.

Remarkable Specimen of Hen Fruit at Lehigh Restaurant in Sayre.

Frederick J. Meehan, manager of the restaurant in the Lehigh station at Sayre has in his possession a curiosity in the shape of a large egg with a perfectly formed egg, so far as appearance will indicate, inside it says the Sayre and Athens papers. The larger outer shell is seven inches or more in diameter, and the egg inside it is of the usual size. There was no yolk in the larger shell, but only the white albumen.

A man alighted from one of the night lines the other evening and had the egg with him. He took it into the restaurant. He stated that he had made a wager with a friend at New York that he could show him a hen's egg that was seven inches in diameter but feared that he would crush the egg and so left it in the restaurant Later on the girl on duty thought that she would cook it and broke the shell only to see the other egg inside. Only a small hole was broken in the shell so she left it as it was and the egg is now on exhibition at the restaurant.

According to the man who brought the egg in, it was laid by an ordinary sized white Leghorn hen.

NOW CAN SEND MAIL ABROAD MUCH CHEAPER.

For 12c. a Pound Uncle Sam Will Take Package to Austrailia.

Changes ordered in the postal rates make it possible, beginning March 1st, to send a letter from this country to Newfoundland for two cents, which is a reduction of three cents from the present five-cent rate. Letters from Newfoundland to the United States also will be carried for two cents.

Another notification sent out from Washington is that beginning March 1st letters will be carried from the Bahama Islands to the United States for two cents, but it will cost five cents to send a letter from this country to the Bahama Islands.

Beginning on March 1st the government will raise the maximum weight from four to eleven pounds and the maximum value from $50 to $80 on parcels sent by the parcel post from this country to Austria, Germany, Italy, Great Britain, Belgium, Australia, the Netherlands or Norway. The rate charged is twelve cents per pound. The exception is made that on parcel direct to Great Britain the value will not be limited.

Oleo and Butter.

The editor of the Mansfield Advertiser doesn't believe that farmers sell their milk, and buy oleomargarine for their own use. He should visit the Covington express office about one month and he would get the names of a lot of them. Probably the Mansfield depot also—Covington Sun. It may be that some farmers prefer oleo to the home-made article. There are cases on record where butter has been purchased at stores so rank it was worthless. Perhaps the farmer who makes such a grade would enjoy eleo butter. The Advertiser is informed oleomargarine is sold in Mansfield, ordered for those who want it. It may be good for all we know. We do know most anything is preferable to poor butter.—Mansfield Advertiser.

Killing Mad Dogs.

A news dispatch from Troy says: "There was an exciting time Tuesday noon in upper Canton street, where a dog became mad and bit dogs belonging to Finton Packard and Meade Thomas. Health Officer J. M. Linderman was notified. The dog was killed and the two bitten were killed this afternoon, hoping to prevent the rabies that is so prevalent in many towns."

Found a Baby.

At Binghamton, Monday night a passer on Emmet street, heard a baby crying and saw a basket sitting on the porch of a house occupied by Mrs. Neil Sullivan. He notified Mrs. Sullivan and a fine baby boy, apparently about six weeks old was found snuggly bundled up in the basket. There was no clue whatever as to the identity of the person who left it there.

Editor Parsons' Nephew.

The March number of Physical Culture contains an article on the "Art of Bag Punching" from the pen of Henry Stanley Stark, a nephew of Editor Parsons of the Argus. Mr. Stark is the champion bag puncher of the world and is known to many in Towanda, having visited here a number of years ago. The article is illustrated with good pictures of the author-bag puncher.

ORRIN D. GOODENOUGH.

R. F. D. Carrier No. 1 Died at His Home in North Towanda.

Orrin D. Goodenough died at his home in North Towanda Wednesday Mrach 3, after a brief illness with heart disease, after a long period of ill health. Mr. Goodenough was carrier No. 1 of the R. F. D. mail service from the Towanda Postoffice, being appointed on the organization of the service in May, 1901. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Benjamin F. and Frank H. Goodenough, and one sister, Mrs. Ida G. Peterson of Milford, Mass.

Mr. Goodenough was born in Towanda, Feb. 23, 1841. He attended the schools of Towanda including the S. C. I. and had as his teachers men who afterwards became prominent in educational affairs; among them were Prof. Gunn and O. H. Platt, who afterwards became U. S. Senator from Connecticut. On October 5, 1855, he was apprenticed in the printing trade to the late E.O. Goodrich in the office of the old Bradford Reporter, and it was as a newspaper man that the greater part of his long life was spent, as printer, proof reader, editor and owner. He worked in newspaper offices at Geneva, N. Y., Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre and other places, returning to Towanda where he formed a partnership with the late George H. Chase in the publication of the Bradford Herald, a weekly Democratic paper. This partnership continued about one year when he became a student in the law office of Montayne & Overton.

Early in 1861 he relinquished the study of law and entered the Bradford Argus office, then published by E. A. Parsons and S. W. Alvord. He remained but a short time in the Argus office, for in the fall of 1861 he entered the United States service as a musician in the sixth Pa. Reserves. After about a year he was discharged by act of congress which discharged regimental bands as a matter of economy. In the spring of 1863 Mr. Goodenough took a newspaper position on the Elmira Morning Press. From Elmira he went to Troy, this county, and worked on the Troy Times, which paper afterwands became The Northern Tier Gazette and is now the Gazette-Register.

While living at Troy he was married to Miss Alice Kingsbury of Towanda, daughter of the late Joseph Kingsbury, who survives him.

Then followed service on the Elmira Advertiser and at Laporte, Pa., until November, 1866, when he received an appointment as a printer in the war department at Washington where he remained about three years. He then returned to Towanda and took a position with the late S. W. Alvord on the Bradford Reporter. In August, 1871, in partnership with the late E. J. Clauson, he started the Towanda Business Item. About Jan. 1, 1873, Mr. Goodenough sold his interest in the Item and went to Mansfield, Tioga county, where he established the Mansfield Advertiser. He sold the Advertiser in May, 1874, and took the foremanship of the Gazette and Bulletin at Williamsport. At the end of a year he returned to Mansfield and resumed the ownership of the paper there.

Three years later found him working as a compositor on the Detroit Free Press. From there he returned to Tioga county, for a time and in January, 1881, returned to Towanda and took a position on The Journal. Since that time he has been a resident of Towanda, and one of its most respected citizens.

For about six months during 1885 he was associated with E. R. Thompson in the conduct of The Daily Review.

Mr. Goodenough always took an active interest in the affairs of the G. A. R., and was one of the charter members of General Mansfield Post at Mansfield, and was its commander for two years. He afterwards became a member of and commander of Watkins Post, No. 68, at Towanda.

For 46 years his name was associated with the printing and publishing business in Northern Pennsylvania and Southern New York.

Orrin D. Goodenough was a good citizen; his genial nature and friendliness was best shown by the name by which most people knew him—"Ben." It was a token of comradeship and carried no hint of disrespect. He was a good workman and he loved his work. His passing out will bring a pang of regret to many followers of the printing trade who owe their success in a measure to his kindly aid and counsel.

NEEDLE TRAVELS THROUGH CANTON WOMAN'S BODY.

Mrs. D. E. Shannon's Suffering Ends With Removal of Needle.

Thursday's Canton Sentinel contains the following interesting item, relating the facts of a remarkable case:

"For more than a month, Mrs. D. E. Shannon had been suffering from excruciating pains in the back of her neck, which affected her chiefly at night, after retiring. About ten days ago, while bathing her neck, she felt a sharp point protruding from the skin and upon investigation it proved to be the point of a needle. This was removed and she has experienced no further pain.

"The needle was about a No. 8, and its presence in her neck is a mystery. She never swallowed a needle to her recollection, nor does she remember having stepped upon a needle when a child. It is probable that years ago the needle must have entered her body in some manner, and gradually worked its way out. It was a very fortunate ending of what might have proved a serious affair."

MAN WARNED HIS WIFE BEFORE HIS REASON FLED.

Strange and Pathetic Case at Brookfield, Tioga County.

George Fuller of Brookfield, Tioga county, a man of magnificient physique, is dead and his end is surrounding by a maze of pathos and tragedy.

The other day he performed his farm duties as usual, and was cheerful and happy. At night he hitched up and took his family to the home of a relative, where they remained several hours, returning about 9 o'clock. Fuller's family had gone up stairs to bed, when he came in from putting out the team. He went to his wife and said: "Bertha, I am feeling very strange, and I want you to get the children down stairs and take them away from the house. I have such a terrible pressure on my brain that I feel that I am going mad and might hurt you and them. Get help from the neighbors at once." Her husband's look and agonized tone of voice told her something terrible was about to take place.

She took the children down stairs, and the husband rushed into the room on the upper floor where he locked the door, threw the key away, and after placing the dresser, and bed against the door his reason took flight and he became a raving madman. His shrieks and cries could be heard at considerable distance from the house by his wife and children who were fleeing to the home of a neighbor.

Two men hurried to the Fuller home and at the risk of their lives forced their way into the room where Fulled had fastened himself. The maniac failed to recognize them and set upon them with terrible fury. One of the men tripped him, but his great strength was too much and he tossed them about like pillows, until other men reached the scene and he was overpowered.

Physicians came but could do nothing. Fuller sank into unconsciousness, and died the next day. He was injured on the head by a falling limb twelve years ago, and it is believed that an abscess formed in the head, breaking and penetrating the brain, causing the pressure which resulted in insanity and death.

Never a "Daylight Robbery."

"It has always been noticable that the 'hub' or perhaps what is better known as The City of Promise has always been a little jealous of Sayre, so it no sooner gets a new fad and Towanda dips in, in fact it has always been very noticeable in this respect. Now it seems the coppers down there have the 'shooting craze' and they or some disinterested individual, perhaps imaginary so, has found it necessary to shoot a dog and send the head to the State Veternarian and he of course is there to earn his salary—well you can easily see the rest, Sayre and Athens cannot have anything Towanda doesn't want. Even the dog quarantine. It's coming."—Sayre Times-Record. Never heard of Towanda imitating Sayre with a "daylight robbery" did you Brother Cotton?

Suit Against the Lehigh.

The case of C. C. Yocum vs. the Lehigh Valley Railroad company was argued in Sayre Thursday afternoon, before Rodney A. Mercur, Esq., as referee. Mr. Yocum, for value, took an assignment from a railroad employe some months ago, and when he presented the assignment to the company, he found that I. A. Samuels, a local dealer in jewelry, had collected the wages to cover the amount due on a watch, and for which he had received an order. It has been the practice of the company to deduct payments for watches from the wages of employes, and Mr. Yocum has gone to court for the purpose of ascertaining if this practice will defeat the terms of an asignment. Mr. Mercur is holding the case under consideration.

Fatal Mistake.

Mrs. Anna O'Connor, the wife of Prof. Francis J. O'Connor, of Binghamton, died on Thursday evening as a result of taking a swallow of carbolic acid early Tuesday morning. The woman was taken ill early in the morning and went in the dark to a closet where she had kept a bottle of medicine. She took a swallow from a bottle and too late discovered that she had taken it from a bottle of carbolic acid, which had been also placed in the closet. Physicians were summoned at once and all possible was done to relieve the woman, but death finally resulted. The unfortunate woman left five children motherless, the youngest but two months old.

ADVANTAGES OF THE SUSQUEHANNA & NEW YORK

Now Has First Class Freight Interchange Facilities.

Says the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin: "The connecting track between the Philadelphia and Reading and Susquehanna and New York railroad yards, at Newberry Junction, which was begun several days ago, is now practically finished and in a short time will be ready for use. Railroad men at the Junction look for interchange of freight between the two roads to begin at once. It will of course be on a small scale at first, only a few cars a day to be sent back and forth, but eventually the connection will have a tendency to increase the S. & N. Y. yard work.

"The location of the several railroad yards is such that the new connection was very easily made. The connecting track runs between the Reading yards and the Pennsylvania railroad to a point near the Reading ash pit, where it intersects with the Reading. The S. & N. Y. previously connected with the New York Central and as it enters over the Pennsylvania dike or "Newberry Branch" line its advantages are now first class in the way of freight inter-change possiblities."

Aiming at Mixed Marriages.

A bill aimed marriages was presented in the House at Harrisburg on Thursday by Mr. Kinney, from Monroe county, who says that he will amend it so as to provide a penalty which will act as a deterrent. The bill prohibits marriages of any one of Caucasian descent with any one of negro descent. Representative Morris, of Philadelphia, offered a bill to permit teachers, principals and superintendents of schools to be retired on half pay by school boards, provided they have served thirty years. There is also a clause which requires that teachers or other educators must have served twenty years continuously in the district where he or she applies for retirement.

Fatal Wedding.

Helen G. Smith of Pittston, was awarded a divorce on Saturday, and thereby hangs a tale. When she was 17 years old and a student at the Wyoming Seminary she secretly married John MacMeekin at Wilkes-Barre, a fellow-student. They were to keep the marriage a secret until after they left school. Two years later, however, MacMeeker, who had been neglecting to even call to see his young wife, quietly married Miss Elsie Powell of Scranton. MacMeekin was charged with bigamy, and the young wife began proceedings for a divorce. MacMeekin avoided arrest by fleeing to Canada.

Lackawanna County Licenses.

Judge H. M. Edwards, E. C. Newcomb and James J. O'Neill at Scranton handed down decisions at 12:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the annual session of liquor license court, for Lackawanna county granting thirty-two new licenses, refusing 243 new license applications, granting 1,174 old licenses and refusing two old licenses. At the same time the court handed down an order refusing to modify or revoke the midnight closing decree, and directed the saloons of the county to remain closed between the hours of midnight and 6 a. m. as heretofore.

GRAFTING IN LEHIGH SHOPS SHAKES SAYRE.

Foremen Made Good Money Selling Jobs to Foreigners.

Sayre is much agitated over a system of grafting that has been unearthed in the Lehigh Valley shops at that place and the discovery may result in a wholesale firing of foremen that have long been employed in those shops.

It is charged, and the worst of it is that the charges have been, in a large degree proven, that the foremen have for a long time been in the habit of selling jobs to the highest bidder and the result has been to fill the shops with foreigners who have shown a great willingness to pay well for the jobs.

This business became so profitable that some Italians who were a little brighter than the rest of their countrymen entered into the agreement with bosses whereby they furnished them with men at so much per had.

This was proving so profitable that none but foreigners were able to secure positions and caused so much of a protest from the citizens of Sayre and Athens that the matter was brought to attention of the officials and an investigation was started that resulted in some startling exposures and several foremen are slated for their discharge.

The real cause of the discovery was the arrest of several Hungarians for stealing coal from a Lehigh Valley car and when they were arraigned before a justice they claimed they did not steal the coal as it was a part of the agreement they had with the man they paid for their jobs that the "Box car Boarders" could have all the coal they needed from the cars on the switch. The investigation then followed with the result that one foreman has lost his job and more will follow.

They entered into a double agreement, one with a prominent foreigner and another with a small boss and between the two they made the work pay them a good living.

Here is an example of graft that came under the observation of a representative of the Times-Record. An Italian, attired in his best suit of clothes left the Lehigh shops and going to the business section of the town he expressed himself gleefully "Me gotta de job." Then he explained that he had seen a foreman about work and was told he could have employment if he would pay $20. "Me comma over after de mon, den I go backa and getta de job" he said, as he started for his boarding house where he kept his little hoard of money. Shortly afterwards he again appeared in the center of the town but the look of glee had disappeared from his face and he explained by saying "I goa after me mon, den I goa back to de shop, hunta de boss but no gitta de job." While he was absent in order to get the $20 another Italian had offered $30 in exchange for a job and had been employed.

WILL BUILD RAILROAD.

Central Pennsylvania Lumber Co. to Open New Lumber Land.

A news dispatch from Clearfield, says: "The wind-up of the large lumbering operations in the Bennets branch valley is in plain sight. The big sawmill of the Goodyears at Medix Run, is running 24 hours daily, and cutting 1,000,000 feet a week. Two more summer's cutting of timber on the Goodyear land east of here will sweep off the trees, and the paper wood cutters are right at the heels of the tree choppers.

"The big mill of John E. DuBois at Hicks Run is running steadily. This operation will cut and peel 60,000,000 feet of lumber this summer on Hicks Run if jobbers and men can be obtained, and then one more summer's campaign will clear off the Hicks Run forest. The Central Pennsylvania Lumber company of Williamsport, will build a railroad from the Pennsylvania railroad into its timber on Mill Run and Laurel Run this summer, and two seasons hence will see 40,000,000 feet of lumber cut. No other large tracts remain in the valley."

Good Diary Report.

Floyd Kellogg of Ulster township gives the following report of his dairy consisting of four new milch and two farrow cows for the month of January, 1909. This dairy was fed gluten and ensilage and the milk was sold to the milk station. Total check for month $105.58; Total amount of grain fed $22.34; Amount received above cost of grain $83.52. Each of the six cows paid $13.92 above the amount of grain fed. Mr. Kellogg takes the best care of his cows and is very careful of the amount of grain fed each cow and the above figures certainly show that it pays the farmers to care for their stock.

Former Troy Pastor.

Rev. Orando T. Steward, one time pastor of the Troy Baptist church, has been tendered the office of General Secretary of the Philadelphia Baptist City Mission. Mr. Steward has been pastor of the Roxboro Baptist church of Philadelphia for some years, a place he will have to resign if he accepts the mission secretaryship.

SAYS MISSING LINK APPLES ARE ALL RIGHT.

B. M. Stone of Stull, Has Completed Experiments, and Makes Report.

B. M. Stone of Stull, Pa., says the Missing Link apples are all that has been claimed for them and more. Several years ago Mr. Stone was at the Bradford county fair, and tried to interest Bradford county farmers in the Missing Link apple. Many of them told Mr. Stone to experiment with the trees and report later. This he has done and now he pronounces the Missing Link the best long keeping apple that grows.

Mr. Stone is an extensive apple grower, and for years was compelled to sell his fruit in the fall at very low prices, and in the Spring and Summer when apples were scarce he had none to sell. While looking around for an apple which would keep through the Winter, he found the Missing Link and immediately purchased a number of trees which produced fruit the same year that they were planted. The apples kept in fine shape until the following Spring and Summer when they sold in the Wilkes-Barre markets for $1.50 per bushel. In the previous Fall apple buyers were offering 15 and 20 cents per bushel for apples, but Mr. Stone had apples which he knew would keep and he held them for better prices. He is one of the few men in the state who are making money on fruit.

FUNERAL OF O. D. GOODNOUGH.

Services Were Largely Attended—Interment in Riverside Cemetery.

In Riverside cemetery Saturday afternoon all that was mortal of Orrin D. Goodnough was committed to the earth, there to rest until the resurrection morn. The funeral services were held at 2 o'clock from the home in North Towanda and were very largely attended by neighbors and friends. The Reverend H. G. Blair, an army comrade, conducted the services, assisted by Rev. W. P. Miller, pastor of the North Towanda M. E. church. The pallbearers were G. H. Granger, Henry Bentley, William Kennedy, D. J. Sweet, Bishop Horton, Charles T. Bazzett, members of Watkins Post, G. A. R. of Towanda, of which the deceased was a member. At the grave the simple and impressive burial service of the Grand Army of the Republic was said.

"Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust, in sure and certain hope of the Resurrection." With these words of farewell goodbye was said to the brave soldier, veteran journalist, faithful mail carrier, good citizen, kind husband, father and friend. From the voiceless lips of the unreplying dead there comes no word but in the night of death his devotion to duty, his long life "filled with little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love" speak more eloquently than any language of the quality of his manhood and good fellowship. His life went out suddenly but as he turned his face to the unknown there was no fear. With soul serene he entered into rest.

"Rest from all bitter thoughts and things!
How many a poor man's blessings went
With thee beneath the low green tent
Whose curtain never outward swings."

Wells Hotel at New Albany Sold.

H. R. Wells has sold the Wells hotel property in New Albany to Fred Johnson of Sayre. In exchange Mr. Johnson gives a house and lot in Sayre as part payment for the hotel property and Mr. Wells will move to the shop town. Mr. Johnson agrees to run a temperance boarding and lodging house on the hotel plan for a least ten years. There was a difference of $1,000 between the house and lot and hotel property, and in order to help Mr. Johnson out, the people of New Albany, who are opposed to a license there went down in their pockets and made up the sum which was paid to Mr. Wells. Several gave $50 each, two or three $100 each and many contributed smaller sums. The Mirror believes that this deal ends the license fight in New Albany for good and all time.

PENNSYLVANIA NEWS.

Happenings All Over the State in Condensed Form.

Among the jurors drawn for the April term of criminal court in Lehigh county, when George Schaeffer is to be tried for the murder of Leopold Ermann, the Philadelphia jeweler, is Orville Schaeffer, father of the accused. Wthout doubt he will be excused from service on the case.

A large butchering took place on the farm of Samuel Rupp, near Bareville, Lancaster county, on Friday, when William Hermis slaughtered for Mr. Roupp a steer which weighed, dressed 1,660 pounds and four hogs whose combined weight was 2,904 pounds, dressed, an average of 726 pounds each.

Mrs. Sarah Jacoby, aged 70 years, twice a widow, and Rev. Jonas H. Price, aged 69 years, of Richland, Bucks county, were quietly married at the bride's home on Saturday night. Rev. Mr. Price was formerly a Presbyterian minister, but now conducts a tailoring establishment having thirty-five employes.

Ernest Hoey, a farm hand, in Peters township, Washington county, was painfully injured on Saturday by an eagle which had attacked and knocked down a little daughter of his employer. Hoey shot at the bird with a revolver and crippled one of its wings. He undertook to capture it when it fought him desperately, sinking its tolons deeply into his legs and body several times before he killed it.

A marriage license was issued at Greensburg on Jan. 25 to Dominic Dimparlo of Monessen, and Georgia Silence, who was yet in her teens but had her parents' consent to the proposed union. But the day before the time set for the marriage Dominic became enraged at his prospective bride and choked her. She resented this by refusing to marry him the next day and all efforts on his part to obtain her forgiveness and have the marriage consummated have been futile. On Thursday the license was returned unused.

John Donges, a retired merchant, of Myerstown, has received a letter inclosing 25 cents conscience money from a Lebanon man, whose name he refuses to divulge. With the money was a letter stating that the sender more than thirty years ago had stolen a 2-cent penholder from the Donges store, and that the theft had so worried him for years past that he finally mustered up courage enough to admit the truth and pay for the article, the extra money representing accumulated interest.

The Whitmer-Steele Company, of Sunbury, is about to erect a mamoth saw-mill for the manufacture of the white pine timber upon the last remaining large tract of original pine in Clearfield county. The tract contains about 8,000 acres. From it and the two adjoining tracts the Whitmer-Steele Company estimates it will cut 150,000,000 feet of lumber. The job will last from six to eight years and will give employment to hundreds of men at chopping, teaming, bark peeling and mill work.

Harrison Weber, of Reading, has spent a great part of twelve years building a unique sideboard, which he values at $6,000. It contains over 150,000 pieces of wood, all inlaid and fitted so slosely that not a joint is visible, and there are some unique designs on the various panels.

Peter Radinger, a puddler at the Danville rolling mill, while at his work on Saturday received word that he will get an inheritance of $50,000, the bequest of an aged lady of Reading to whom he had rendered a service a number of years ago that she greatly appreciated.

Robert McFeeters, head of a family of twenty-four, each male member of which is either a policeman or a soldier and he himself a veteran of the Civil war, died at his home in Philadelphia on Saturday, aged 89 years.

The first spring chickens were on the Reading market on Saturday and sold at 75 cents per pound.

After being dead-locked for a year the borough council of Centralia, Columbia county, this week elected a street commissioner.

A resident of Denver, Lancaster county, astonished the people a few days ago by eating a live fish, on a wager of $2.25, and it is reported that he will eat a rat for $15.

Thomas Cochran, the oldest man in Chester county, died at his home near Oxford on Wednesday, aged 103 years. He personally superintended his farm and never let go his grip on affairs until two weeks ago, when his health suddenly failed.

Charles Murray, of Penn avenue, Pittsburg, was fatally injured and his wife painfully hurt early on Wednesday morning by being caught in a folding bed which accidentally closed on them while they were sleeping. Murray died later in the day.

William Bryning, of Trevorton, Northumberland county, died from grief on Monday, caused by the burial of his wife on Sunday.

Harrisburg's building boom started off with a record of $100,000 worth of permits issued by the building inspector, the largest sum ever carried for any day in March in recent years.

Harvel Hally, of Chester, was dancing about with his 2-year-old son, William, on his knee, when the little fellow jabbed a finger into his father's eye, lacerating the eyeball so severely that the vision may be lost.

Daisy Naulder, aged 6 years, of Buena Vista, Allegheny county, fell into an abandoned well on Monday, and Miss Sadie Hughes passing by and hearing her cries quickly secured a rope, dropped one end down to her, and telling her to hold on to it, tied the other end to the woodwork above and then ran until she met Alexander Hamilton, who hurried to the place, went down by the rope and rescued the child.

Harry Eihleman and William Devine were sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs, each, on Tuesday, for selling short-measure potatoes on the Reading market.

Two persons died of cancer on Monday afternoon only a few hours apart at Hughesville, Lycoming county. They were Miles Andrew, aged 65 years, and Mrs. Wesley Dewald, aged 55 years.

Merle High, aged 13 years, of Chambersburg, instead of going to school on Monday with two companions jumped on a freight train, fell off and his body was cut in two, causing instant death.

James Tickle, a clerk in a grocery at Upland, Lelaware county, accidently locked himself in a refrigator. His muffled cries were heard by a customer, and when the door was opened he was so nearly exhausted that he fainted.

Mrs. T. Scott Dunn of Connellsville, had a piece of needle deeply imbedded in one of her fingers which caused her much trouble when, by the approval of her physician, she went to the Sligo iron and steel mills on Thursday, where the inflamed part was placed against the giant electro magnet and almost immediately the piece of needle appeared at the surface.

L. L. Berket, a prominent citizen of Bethlehem, was so greatly shocked by the recent death of his only daughter that he died on Thursday, aged 57.

Judge O'Connor of Cambria county, has handed down a degree giving to Directors of the Poor Conrad Bader and Philip Hertzog, each a salary of $600 instead of $250, the amount paid them for the year 1907, as based on the population of the county, they having brought suit for the balance of $350 which they claimed to be due them. In allowing their claim the judge held that the constitutional provision against increasing salary during the term of office does not apply to them.

Charles Gilligan of Glen Hope, Clearfield county, who was placed in the Danville insane asylum recently, escaped from that institution about a week ago and boarded a passenger train for Williamsport. When the conductor asked for his ticket he became very indignant and would not recognize him. At Williamsport he was handed over to the authorities for illegal car-riding and confined in prison. After tiring of prison life he told the officials that he had escaped from the Danville asylum.

LEHIGH FREIGHT CAR ROBBER GOES TO AUBURN.

Detective Who Took McKinley's Assasin to Prison, is There Himself.

Having been leader of a gang for two years or more past that had been robbing Lehigh cars at Buffalo, and on their way out of the city, Albert Solomon, a former detective sergeant on the Buffalo police force was sentenced on Friday to spend not less than two or more than three years and three months at Auburn State's prison.

Solomon was the strong man of the Buffalo police force, and was the custodian of the assassin of President McKinley and was shackled to Cozolgozz during the trial of the later and took him to Auburn State's prison, for execution.

Solomon was first reduced, and then dismissed from the police force for crooked work, and then, being on the inside, organized a gang which systematically robbed Lehigh trains, sometimes taking several thousands of dollars at one haul.

Their favorite plan of operation was to come to a point a few miles east of Buffalo and there fasten the wires of the signals together so that it showed danger, and stopped the train. They then entered the cars, threw what they wanted out on the ground, gathering it up after the train had gone.

The Lehigh officials suspected the train crew at times, and made every effort to catch the thieves, without any success.

Finally some of Solomon's confederates were captured and convicted on other charges, and after they were in jail he sold the goods that they had on hand for some $800 and kept the share that would have gone to his comrades. They learned of the perfidy of Solomon and then told the authorities of the various jobs that they had been in together and it was mainly through their testimony that Solomon was convicted.

Since Solomon was incarcerated several months ago there has been practically no stealing from cars at Buffalo. He was tried twice, the first jury failing to agree.

Celebrated Ninety-Second Birthday.

Mrs. Maria Park celebrated her ninety-second birthday on Saturday, March 6, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Augusta Munn, in East Athens. MILLIONS OF GAIN FOR COFFEE MEN

Rushing It In, Fearing New Tax of $50,000,000.

MAY REVIVE WAR REVENUE.

Taft Advisers Working on Ways to Prevent Great Deficit In Government Revenues if Tariff Is Cut Heavily President Said to Be Pressing Committee For Tax on Inheritances. Many Problems to Perplex the Administration.

Washington, March 9. — There is great activity in the coffee import business as a result of the belief that an import tax will be imposed on coffee by the special session of congress which convenes March 15. The imports of coffee, according to reports at the New York custom house, have been heavier during the last month than at any other time within a year. During February coffee to the value of $8,145,600 was imported. During the last week in February over $3,000,000 worth of coffee was imported. It is estimated that 3,823,885 bags are stored in this country, valued at $24,855,252. All of this coffee, of course, will escape the duty and will show a handsome profit to the importers.

About half of this coffee belongs to the Brazilian government and is kept here as collateral for the $75,000,000 bond issue of the Sao Paolo government brought out not long ago by J. P. Morgan & Co. Since the bond issue the price of coffee has advanced from 1 to 2 cents a pound.

If an import duty of 3 cents a pound is placed on coffee by congress the present owners of the coffee now stored in the warehouses of the country stand to make a profit of $14,914,151.

Tax Would Raise $50,000,000.

The new tariff schedule contemplates putting a $50,000,000 additional tax on the breakfast table. Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee is determined to put a duty of 5 cents a pound on all coffee. A tax on tea and sugar is also favored by the chief tariff tinker.

If a $50,000,000 tax is placed on coffee it means that the 30,000,000 coffee consumers in the United States will have to pay $1.50 more each year.

After a two hour conference at the White House between President Taft, Senator Aldrich, Speaker Cannon and the new secretary of the treasury, Franklin Macveagh, on the subject of the new tariff it became known that the leaders have found it impossible to reduce the tariff in nearly all of the important schedules and at the same time raise more than $100,000,000 in revenue for the government. The government has now run behind more than $115,000,000 this year. By the end of the fiscal year, July 1, the deficit will be $150,000,000.

The duties on steel are to be cut from 30 to 50 per cent. Hides are to be put on the free list, which will mean cheaper shoes. Lumber is to be cut 50 per cent and possibly go on the free list.

May Revive War Revenue.

The war revenue act of 1898, which placed a tax on telegrams, bank checks, playing cards and all stocks bought or sold, may be revived. That feature of the war revenue act is incorporated in the measure as drafted, it is said.

A matter which is perplexing the committee is that of placing a tax on inheritances. President Taft wants it, it is declared, and is pressing the committee to take action along that line, and indications are, it is said, that the committee will yield to the president's wishes.

The duty on whisky and beer probably will not be changed. The subcommittee resolutions declare that whisky is carrying all the tax it can stand.

The fight between the various steel interests, the coming decision of the supreme court on the commodity clause of the Hepburn rate law and the dispute between the anthracite coal operators and their miners are other influences beyond the tariff disturbance of business and the large deficit in the treasury which might make the administration solicitous that all clouds be swept away from the financial and business skies as quickly as possible.

Special Session to End June 1.

The testimony at the hearings on the lumber schedule led to the impression that lumber would be put on the free list. To make lumber free of duty, it was declared, was the only way to conserve the forests of this country. Gifford Pinchot is even now preparing figures for the committee in a further effort to prove that this should be done.

It is practically decided that only the tariff will be brought up at the extra session which convenes March 15. That has been Mr. Taft's desire from the first, but many congressmen and some of the cabinet members have bills that they would like to get through at once. The postal savings bank bill, of which Secretary Meyer, formerly of the postoffice department, now of the navy, is the author, has the approval of Mr. Taft, but Mr. Meyer will not press it at the extra session, and others have agreed to yield to the president's wishes. Mr. Taft believes that this agreement will insure the ending of the extra session by June 1.

SENATE TO TRY STEPHENSON

It Will Depend on Result of Wisconsin Legislature's Inquiry.

Washington, March 9.—Present indications are that the senate will soon begin another investigation into charges that one of its members has purchased a seat in that body. This will depend on the evidence developed by the inquiry now being made by the legislature of Wisconsin into allegations that Isaac Stephenson was guilty of corruption in obtaining his re-election.

No attempt will be made to prevent Mr. Stephenson from taking the oath of office when congress convenes on March 15, but if the legislature of Wisconsin finds against Mr. Stephenson it is almost certain that the senate committee on privileges and elections will be instructed to take the matter up.

OLIVER TO SUCCEED KNOX.

Pittsburg Man Has No Opposition For the Senatorship.

Harrisburg, March 9.—The Republican members of the legislature met in joint caucus and named George T. Oliver of Pittsburg for United States senator to succeed P. C. Knox. Only one name, that of Mr. Oliver, was presented, and he was unanimously selected. The two houses will take separate ballots on the senatorship on March 16 and joint ballot the next day. The Republicans have a majority of 167 on joint ballot.

GEORGE T. OLIVER.

TAFT TO BE ON WING NEARLY ALL SUMMER

Nearly Every Section, Including Alaska, to See Him.

Washington, March 9.—President Taft has indicated that he will make a trip to the Pacific coast, and possibly to Alaska, before he starts on the two months' tour of the south which he has already promised to make.

He told the senators from Utah that he will attend the G. A. R. encampment at Salt Lake City some time between Aug. 9 and 14. He will attend also the transmississippi convention at Denver and the Alaska-Yukon exposition at Seattle. He will make a trip along the Pacific coast, and if there is time he will go to some Alaskan port.

Mr. Taft's southern tour will begin about the middle of September and may be extended to two months. He will visit every southern state.

Including the trip to the Lake Champlain tercentenary in July, Mr. Taft will travel practically all the time between the ending of the extra session of congress and the convening of the regular session in December.

TORNADO KILLS 30, INJURES 20

Town of Brinkley, Ark., Is Almost Wiped Out.

MOST OF RESIDENCES RAZED

Violent Hailstorm Follows the Hurricane, Which Cuts a Clean Path. Waterspout Two Hundred Feet High Is Raised When It Crosses the Arkansas River — Terror Stricken Crowds Fill the Darkened Streets.

St. Louis, March 9.—A message direct from Brinkley, Ark., says that the death list from the tornado will reach thirty.

First reports of death and damage were not overdrawn. Accurate advices received now show that at least ten white persons and four negroes were killed. Twenty people were more or less seriously injured. A revised list of the known dead follows:

Porter Foote, Mrs. Belle Darden, J. L. Sterrett, a traveling shoe salesman; Henry Stovall, Jr.; Mrs. Phillips, Charles Frenze, Miss Clara Rose, Mr. Hood, Mrs. Hood, an unidentified man and four negroes.

A mass meeting of citizens was held at Brinkley, and telegrams were sent to Governor Donaghey at Little Rock urging him to go to the town and take charge of the situation. The governor replied that he would leave for the scene at once.

Because of wire demoralization a Cotton Belt passenger train could not be located, but officers of the railroad in Memphis now say that the train is safe.

DARKNESS FOLLOWS STORM.

Entire Business Part of Brinkley Demolished In a Second.

Wheatley, Ark., March 9.—Residents of Brinkley are arriving here. Brinkley is a town of more than 3,000 inhabitants, and the refugees say that the entire business section was demolished and probably 80 per cent of the residences were razed or rendered uninhabitable.

L. M. Kimmell, a railroad operator, was one of the first to reach a point of communication to summon aid for the devastated town. With several companions Kimmell was in the Rock Island station when the storm struck The substantial structure was twisted and broken, the occupants being caught among the fallen timbers.

Extricating themselves after half an hour's effort, they found the town in darkness and the streets filled with a terror stricken throng. Intermittent flashes of lightning revealed wreckage everywhere, a portion of a building standing here, and again only a tangled mass of debris.

As Kimmell and his companions made their way through the streets they identified two of the dead and stumbled over others who were wounded.

The tornado crossed the Arkansas river at Fourche dam and raised a spout of water about 200 feet high. It traveled toward the northeast and swept a clean path about sixty yards wide. The tornado was followed by a violent hail and rain storm.

STANDARD MUST QUIT STATE

Missouri Court Rules Against Plan For Partnership.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 9.—The motions by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Republic Oil Company of Ohio for a rehearing of the ouster suit recently decided against them and for a modification of the judgment were overruled by the Missouri supreme court.

The company sought to obtain consent for the continued operation of the refineries under state supervision and partnership.

CHEAPER MEAT, SAYS ARMOUR

Present Prices Too High Because of Cost of Feeding Corn.

Atlanta, Ga., March 9.—"Meat will be cheaper this summer," said J. Ogden Armour, who passed through in his private car from Palm Beach to Chicago.

"Meat is high, too high, at present," he continued, "but this is because of the increased cost of feeding stock just now. It follows that when corn is high meat is high. This summer we expect the price of corn to go down."

SEVERED HAND IS PUT BACK.

Victim of Accident Soon to Regain Its Full Use.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 9.—The hand that was severed from the wrist of Charles Miller at a paper factory here has been successfully rejoined to his arm, and, it is said, he will shortly be discharged from Bronson hospital with the prospect of regaining full use of his hand.

Only a small piece of flesh held the hand and arm together, but the wound has rapidly healed.

Noiseless Slate Maker In Pen.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 9.—Samuel Marks, inventor of the noiseless slate, which netted him $110,000, was sentenced to ten years for forging a deed of trust for $3,500.

Truthful.

He—Give me a kiss. She (decidedly)—I won't. He—You shouldn't say "I won't" to me; you should say, "I prefer not." She—But that wouldn't be true.

MRS. ASTOR FOR VIVISECTION

Urges New York Assembly to Pass Compromise Bill.

Albany, N. Y., March 9.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor, writing from 840 Fifth avenue, New York, sent a letter to members of the senate and assembly urging them to support the Brough-Murray "open door" vivisection bill. This is the compromise measure accepted by the anti-vivisectionists.

Mrs. Astor said the measure was acceptable to those who believed that vivisection under the proposed law would not interfere with a proper performance of all scientific measures.

JOSIE MANSFIELD HOMELESS.

Once Famous Beauty, Cause of Jim Fisk's Murder, Object of Charity.

Watertown, S. D., March 9.—That Josie Mansfield, the famous New York beauty of the seventies, for whose love Ed Stokes killed Jim Fisk, is a resident of this town is asserted here.

The woman is said to be known as Mrs. Mary Lawlor. She is now about seventy years of age, is helpless from paralysis and is dependent upon charity for support.

Mrs. Lawlor has decided to enter a convent, where she will spend the remainder of her years.

BOMB AND FIRE WRECK A CROWDED TENEMENT

Plaster Statue of Virgin Standing Near Is Uninjured.

New York, March 9.—Bingham's secret police were turned loose in an effort to discover who attempted to wreck a double tenement at 231 East One Hundred and Seventh street.

After a fire had been started a bomb was exploded in a closet on the ground floor, on one side of which is the grocery of Lapetro Vaccarello and on the other the living rooms of Salvatore Argento. The explosion rocked the building.

A plaster statue of the Virgin which stood near the bomb when it exploded was not injured, and the tenants regarded the incident as a miracle.

The ten families in the upper floors rushed in disorder to the street shrieking. Some of the men fired revolvers, adding to the stampede.

The explosion blew out the fire, which had been started with oil soaked rags before the bomb was set off. None of the occupants would admit having received threatening letters.

REMOVES TUMOR FROM BRAIN

German Surgeon Cuts Three Inches Into Woman's Skull.

Berlin, March 9.—Professor Krause, chief surgeon of the Kaiserin Augusta hospital, has successfully performed a most extraordinary operation in removing a tumor in the very midst of the skull.

The patient was a woman, thirty-five years old. The tumor was reached by forming a very large skin and bone flap on the right forehead and temporal region. The tumor was larger than a hen's egg and was buried more than three inches deep in the substance of the brain. The patient is doing well.

ARMY IS AT FULL STRENGTH

Government Stops Recruiting For First Time In Years.

Washington, March 9.—The enlisted strength of the cavalry, infantry and artillery arms of the army is up to the full authorized strength for the first time in many years, and orders have been issued to recruiting officers in various parts of the country to temporarily discontinue enlistments, excepting former soldiers who want to re-enlist in the army.

The recruit depots in various parts of the country for preliminary training and instruction are overcrowded.

CUT APPENDIX FOR TONSILS.

Surgeons "Successfully" Operate on Girl by Mistake.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 9.—Rosie Cohen, eight, and her brother Joseph, eleven, were sent to the hospital suffering from enlarged tonsils. The girl was given ether and by mistake was operated on for appendicitis.

The surgeons say they found her appendix somewhat inflamed and were not aware that a mistake had been made until the parents called. The operation was "successful," and the child is resting easily.

BACK TEN CENTURIES, GIRLS.

Directoire Gown Is Doomed and New Waist Line Is Near the Knees.

Chicago, March 9.—The annual exhibition of the dressmakers' convention will be signalized by important edicts dooming the directoire gown and kindred styles and indorsing costumes of the tenth, eleventh, twelfth and fifteenth centuries.

The waist line, it is announced, will be near the knees, which means that there will be no such thing as a waist line.

Nevada Downs Silver Coinage.

Carson City, Nev., March 9.—A resolution demanding the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 20 to 1 was defeated in the Nevada senate. Republicans and Democrats joined in voting the measure down.

The greatest firmness is the greatest mercy.—Longfellow.

In this world it is not what we take up, but what we give up, that makes us rich.—Beecher.

EAST TROY.

Thomas Stalford of Wyalusing, was a guest over Sunday at W. W. Brooks.

The next meeting of the Methodist Aid society will be held at the parsonage with Rev. and Mrs. Hess, on Wednesday, March 17, for dinner. All are cordially invited to attend.

Rev. Mr. Skillette and Rev. Mr. Hess have closed the union meetings at this place. There were twenty-seven conversions and a general awakening in both churches. On Sunday evening at the regular service, Mr. Hess baptized nine and received sixteen into the church. Mr. Hess has a fine record as there are only three city churches of the Methodist denomination who are ahead of him in evangelistic work and in receiving members.

Alanson Cole, an aged citizen of this place, was the recipient last week of a very nice present, an illustrated edition of the Holy Bible, with the cover made of Olive wood, taken from the Mount of Olves, Jerusalem. It was sent to him by his niece, Miss Ella Guernsey of Detroit, Mich., who spent the past year in Europe and also visited Palestine.

On Saturday, March 13, at the Troy Grange, Dr. P. S. Carpenter will read a paper on "Plant Life," which is sure to be interesting to all. On Saturday, March 20, Troy Grange will celebrate its annual anniversary; dinner will be served. After dinner the following program will be rendered: Music by the grange, with Mrs. Jennie Stanton at the organ; remarks by the Worthy Master, John Spalding; recitation, Miss Louise Newell; solo, Miss Maud Cole; recitation, Miss Florence Scott; solo, Miss Gertrude VanHorn; recitation, William Spalding; remarks, H. E. Chase; music, quartet; recitation, Miss Mildred Howland; recitation, Master Mahood; music, Leon Atwood; select reading, Mrs. Newell; close by singing two verses of America.

IN THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

During the Spanish American War, many of our soldiers suffered severely from cramp in the stomach and bowels, due in most cases to the change of climate and the water they were obliged to drink.

Mr. Geo. A. Lake, of Dennison, Texas, gives an interesting account of how he came to the relief of some of the men in his regiment:—"Just as I was starting for the war," says Mr. Lake, "Mr. Davis gave me a large bottle of Sloan's Liniment. I used it in our troop at Camp Mobrey for cramps and dysentery among the men. It took finely and lots of the boys of Troop L, 1st Tex. Cav. U. S. V., will never forget the name of Sloan's Liniment. One case in particular was our bugler, Fred Ormsley; he was cramped until he could hardly stand it. I gave him a dose of Sloan's Liniment and in five minutes he was up and ready to go on with the troop."

Every druggist carries Sloan's Liniment in stock. You can get it in 25c., 50c. or $1.00 sized bottles. It's a good thing to have in the house for rheumatism, toothache, sorethroat, asthma and any pain or stiffness.

INSPECTED MANY THEN SELECTED A WIDOW.

Down State Farmer Picks a Wife as He Would Live Stock.

From down Doylestown way comes this news dispatch which will be of especial interest to the female readers

"Although apparently hard to suit, Michael Doody of Mechanicsville is married and Mrs. Mae Eline of Reading i sthe bride.

"Doody some time ago decided to wed. Instead, however, of hunting for the woman of his choice, he did the reverse and caused the woman to hunt him. He inserted an advertisement in several papers and then waited. Many women came to the Doody farm in Buckingham Township. The majority of them looked over the property, sized up Doody and his young son and then said they were willing. But the wife-seeker was not easily stirred. He looked at the passing throng without a flicker of interest until Mrs. Eline, an attractive and unfettered widow from Reading, answered the advertisement. She suited Doody and Doody suited her, and their wedding followed quickly in Philadelphia. As soon as Mrs. Doody has settled her business matters in Reading she will come to the pretty Buckingham farm to live."

Edward I. Quigley Pictured.

The Baltimore Star of March 5, contains an excellent picture of Edward I. Quigley, Jr., son of Edward Quigley of Towanda, who is the traveling representative of the marine department of the United Wireless Telegraph Company. Last Thursday, when all the wires North of Washington were blown down, and communication with the capital was cut off, the Baltimore Star had to depend entirely upon its wireless telegraph on the roof of the building for information concerning the inauguration of President Taft. After 24 hours at the key without rest the regular operator was relieved by Mr. Quigley who was located by telephone, and he took the key and completed the work of catching inauguration news from Washington. Mr. Quigley had considerable difficulty in "tuning out" the navy department at Washington which was catching the messages intended for the Star.

Lehigh Conductor Pensioned.

J. H. Stowell made his last run as a Lehigh conductor, and he is now on the pension roll of the company. Mr. Stowell, who lacks but two months of being 80 years of age, has been so long in Lehigh service that he has become seemingly one of the fixtures of the road. He is known to nearly all people who ever traveled over the Lehigh and there are but few men in this section of the country who have as wide an acquaintance. He has recently been running on passenger trains Nos. 11 and 116 as conductor and after making the trip Monday he returned to Sayre, settled up all his accounts with the Lehigh and then became a pensioner.

Surprise Party.

The many friends and school-mates of Miss Mary Brown of Centerville, gave her a pleasant surprise on Monday evening, Feb. 22, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Brown, it being the occasion of her fifteenth birthday. Miss Brown, unsuspecting the designs of her schoolmates, was induced to spend the evening with some friends. On her return she was surprised to find her home filled with her many friends. The evening was spent in dancing. About 60 sat down to a bountiful supper and at a late hour all returned to their homes wishing Miss Brown many and happy returns of the day.

Willis Gordon Estell.

Says the Sayre Times-Record: "Perry Estell is Sayre's only representative in a county office. He is deputy prothonotary, and he has sent out the following official notice to his friends: I wish to inform you that a new deputy prothonotary arrived in Towanda Monday evening by the name of Willis Gordon Estell. He weighed ten pounds, and am pleased to say that he and his mother are getting along fine.

Yours respectfully,
PERRY F. ESTELL.

Birthday Party.

Last Friday evening, March 5, about 50 of the friends and neighbors of John Vroman, gathered at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ritner Vroman, at Granville to help him celebrate his twenty-first birthday. Music and dancing was enjoyed by all. A fine luncheon was served. All left in the early hours of the morning, voting Mr. and Mrs. Vroman royal entertainers and wishing "Jack" many happy returns of the day.

Shot Two Foxes.

R. S. Loomis of Sayre, and B. F. Stone of Athens, went hunting at Goose Hollow, northeast of Sheshequin last Saturday and shot two red foxes, after they had been run for considerable time by Mr. Loomis' two fox hounds. The foxes are especially fine specimens and gave the dogs a long chase before they finally came within range of the hunter's guns.—Athens News.

WINTER WOOD.

It Makes the Best and Most Lasting Kind of Timber.

It has long been known that winter was the best time of the year for cutting down trees for their timber, but until the American bureau of forestry published the results of some experiments no one was sure why. The bureau of forestry selected four pine trees of the same age and of equal vigor, growing in the same soil, and felled them, the first at the end of December, the second at the end of January, the third at the end of February and the fourth at the end of March. They were sawn into logs of the same size and dried at the same place. Then the logs were tested.

The December log resisted a flexile strain twice as strong as that which the March log resisted. It furnished piles which were still perfect and undecayed sixteen years later, while the piles made from the March log had rotted within three or four years.

Wood that is felled in December is less porous than that cut at other times. It has been proved that oak felled in the spring allowed water to percolate through it in from two to three hours, while similar wood cut in winter or in spring. The former contains floury particles, which turn blue when tincture of iodine is poured upon them. The latter preserves its natural tint or merely becomes a little darker at the contact of iodine.—New York World.

COPIED NAPOLEON.

South American Dictators Who Imitated the French Despot.

The dictatorship of Castro in Venezuela has been compared with that of President Francia, who terrorized Paraguay for over thirty years. Francia was a worshiper of Napoleon, whom he endeavored to imitate in every possible way. He possesses only one portrait of his idol, a German caricature, which depicted the emperor wearing an exaggerated version of the famous gray overcoat. Francia took this picture seriously and for many years paraded the streets of Asuncion clad in a gray dressing gown and a cocked hat, which he fondly believed to be the habitual garb of the French despot.

Castro's most distinguished predecessor was also a Napoleon devotee, but Bolivar had seen his idol and could thus imitate him more faithfully. He managed to acquire the emperor's brusque speech and other mannerisms, pulled people's ears when in a good humor and dictated dispatches to several secretaries at once. He founded an order closely modeled on the Legion of Honor; surrounded himself with a guard of negroes from Haiti, after the style of Napoleon's mamelukes, and endeavored to codify the laws of his country. When he returned to America after witnessing Napoleon's coronation Bolivar entered Caracas standing in a Roman chariot drawn by twelve maidens belonging to the first families of the town.—London Chronicle.

A Narrow Escape.

When Mr. Hartman returned an hour later than usual, Mrs. Hartman asked him the reason, and his good natured face was solemn as he answered her. "I haf had one narrow escape from drowning, Katchen," he said.

"How was that happen?" asked his wife as she helped him unwind the knitted scarf from his neck. "Tell to me it at once, Hans."

"It was at the ferry that I came late," said Mr. Hartman, "from the blocked cars, and the boat she was just starting. A man he called me out, 'Joomp, joomp!' and for one moment I thought to make as he said. But I reminded myself to be cautious and wait, and in one minute more, Katchen, came a great patch of water showing! Then I took holt of the post whereby I stood and said to myself, 'Hans, you were the wise man that you joomped not at first when that man advised."—Youth's Companion.

Cracked Furniture.

Ugly marks caused by splits or cracked places in furniture are easily filled in with beeswax, and the mark is never detected. In fact, this is how furniture dealers cover such blemishes. First slightly soften the beeswax until it is like putty, then press firmly into the cracks and smooth evenly with a thin knife. Sandpaper over the surrounding wood and work the dust into the beeswax. This gives a wood finish or color, and when the furniture is varnished you will look in vain for the blemishes. It is better than putty, since putty soon dries, crumbles and falls out, while beeswax will remain forever just where it is placed.

Almost Got It.

"Is there any difference in the meaning of the words 'nautical' and 'marine?'" asked Mr. Malaprop.

"Not much," replied Mrs. Malaprop. "One is a cinnamon of the other."—

PENNSYLVANIA HAS NEW EDUCATIONAL IDEA.

Collection of 4,500 Lantern Slides Has Been Made For Loafing.

Here is something along the educational line, according to a news dispitch that is decidedly unique and original in Pennsylvania. It is the imparting of information by means of circulating loan collections of lantern slides by the state, and is part of the system of education that has grown up since the establishment of the Educational Museum in connection with the State Library.

The new idea in the educational campaign was organized by Miss Alicia M. Zierden, the curator of the Educational Museum and it is understood the public will be eager to take advantage of it. Through Miss Zierden's efforts a collection of 4,500 lantern slides have been gathered by the state, which it is proposed to loan to schools, institutions, study clubs, agricultural, historical, natural history, art and architectural societies—in fact, to all the various organizations that are educational in their bent.

The slides are beautiful in their colorings, many of them most exquisite. They are loaned free of charge on application to any institution devised for educational purposes, the number given to any single applicant being as high as 100, fully illustrating any lecture that can be gotten up.

These pictures take one into the depths of the forest, to the cultivated field, teeming with flowers and insects, to the busy metropolis, through the great factories, into the mines and upon a general tour of travel and information. The subjects include geography, travel, botany, zoology, physical geography, history, art and architecture, with special sets on transportation, industies, education and kindergarten.

THE GLORY OF HIS WORK.

There the workman saw his labor taking form and bearing fruit,
Like a tree with splendid branches rising from an humble root,

Looking at the distant city, temples, houses, domes and towers,
Felix cried in exultation: "All the mighty work is ours.

"Every mason in the quarry, every builder on the shore,
Every chopper in the palm grove, every raftsman at the oar,

"Hewing wood and drawing water, splitting stone and cleaving sod.
All the busy ranks of labor in the regiment of God.

"March together toward His triumph, do the task His hands prepare, Honest toil is holy service; faithful work is praise and prayer."
—Henry Van Dyke.

MARCH WINDS.

Blow, blow, blow, we're the gay March winds heigho!
And jolly are we in our frolicsome Glee
As over the meadows and hills we go,
To welcome the coming of spring.

Blow, blow, blow, with our boreal blast heigho!
None can us defy, and we'll say goodbye
When old Winter is gone with its winds and snow,
And we're brought you the beautiful Spring.

Blow, blow, blow, from the northland hills heigho!
We chase the sleet through the forest retreat
And scatter the snow, as we onward go,
To hasten the coming of Spring.

Blow, blow, blow, we'll swell the buds heigho!
And the violets too, with eyes so blue,
We'll awaken soon, and hasten to grow
To perfume, the coming of Spring.

Blow, blow, blow, the robin has come heigho!
And the blue-bird we see, in the old appie tree.
And this is his song in notes soft and low
Welcome, oh welcome, sweet balmy Spring.

COULD NOT CURE WEEPING ECZEMA

Disease Began over Ear and Spread till Face and Neck were Raw—Itching, Inflammation and Soreness were Terrible—Lasted Over a Year and All Treatments Failed

UNTIL CUTICURA AGAIN PROVED GREAT SUCCESS

"Eczema began over the top of my ear. It cracked and then began to spread. I had three different doctors and tried several things, but they did me no good. At last one side of my face and my neck clear up to my hair were raw. The water ran out of it so that I had to wear medicated cotton, and it was so inflamed and sore that I had to put a piece of cloth over my pillow to keep the water from it, and it would stain the cloth a sort of yellow. The eczema itched so that it seemed as though I could tear my face all to pieces. The disease began in the fall and I did everything for it until the next winter. Then I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and it was not more than three months before it was all healed up. I still use the Cuticura Resolvent Pills once in a while to cleanse the blood. I am very thankful that I tried Cuticura, and I can recommend it to any one. Miss Ann Pearsons, Northfield, Vt., Dec. 19, '07."
